U.S. Response To Be Diplomatic

Democrats Vote . . .

Abolition Wanted Of 7% Tax Credit

Washington (AP) — House Democrats gave a boost Wednesday to abolition of the seven per cent investment credit, declaring it inflationary and urging the Ways and Means Committee promptly to consider repeal.

The credit now permits a business to deduct from its income tax seven per cent of money spent for equipment, while also ultimately recovering the whole cost through depreciation.

The credit has been part of tax law since 1962, but it was suspended briefly during President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration as an anti-inflationary move. Tax reform hearings and continued fear of inflation have revived the proposal to repeal it.

Majority In Caucus

The caucus of majority members of the House adopted by voice vote a resolution offered by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, a Ways and Means Committee member.

Vanik told newsmen he intended to say that repeal should not wait on development of the general tax reform package on which the committee is working.

Vanik modified his original resolution to provide discretion for the Ways and Means Committee. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told the caucus when the resolution was presented in this form that he had no objection to its consideration.

Vanik said repeal of the credit would yield "upwards of $3 billion" additional revenue.

Surtax Not Mentioned

There have been suggestions that the credit be repealed and that the 10 income surtax be reduced to seven per cent by taking advantage of the additional revenue. The resolution, however, did not mention the surtax.

Nixon administration spokesmen have indicated they favor retaining the investment tax credit. The Senate-House Economic Committee split along party lines on the issue, Democrats recommending suspension and Republicans retention.

Mills' statement, as reported by members attending the closed-door session, did not bind him to support repeal.

However, in a speech Tuesday, he gave a strong hint that he is considering the step. He said a $9 billion, 14% increase this year in business spending on plant and equipment is wholly excessive in inflationary times.

100 Protest On NU Campus

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

About 100 chanting and hand-clapping demonstrators took part in a protest Wednesday afternoon against what was termed the University of Nebraska's "inability to implement relevant programs for minority groups."

The protesters, predominantly black students, stood in front of the Administration Building carrying bricks and placards and chanting slogans such as "Black power!" "The system is dead!" and "Let go!"

Wayne Williams, a senior law student and chairman of the Afro-American Collegiate Society, refused to outline the protesters' concerns in detail, and he declined to call them "demands."

According to the placards, the demonstrators were concerned mainly with the cultural and financial needs of black students at NU.

Among major issues were alleged lack of communication and delays in implementation of recommendations formulated by a task force composed of faculty, student and administrative representatives, said Williams.

Among the recommendations was the employment of a full-time black coordinator and a counselor.

Others dealt with the "tuition waiver program" through which culturally deprived students were recruited last fall to attend the university.

Williams said the demonstrators would make their specific concerns known when "we're damn good and ready."

"They know what we want. They put us off before and now we're putting them off."

At one point the demonstrators marched through the lobby of the Administration Building and then burned a small white paper coffin and several placards in front of the building.

One student said the bricks the demonstrators were carrying represented a "new foundation for NU."

Dr. Lee W. Chatfield, associate dean of student affairs, watched the demonstration from the steps of the Administration Building.

"I don't know what the details of their requests are," he said, although he speculated that they were along the lines of more incorporation of ethnic course matter and more black faculty and administrators.

Dr. Chatfield said he had just returned from a national education convention. It seems that colleges and universities from all over the U.S. are looking for black counselors and administrators, he said.

Not Unreasonable

"I am confident that the demonstrations will remain peaceful," he said.

Dr. Chatfield added that he didn't think the protest could be called either "irrational or unreasonable."

Williams commented that both a small Tuesday demonstration and the expanded Wednesday gathering had been geared for "peace."

He warned that violence could result in future protests if any demonstrators were assaulted or if the administration called in police.

Another demonstration is planned for Thursday, he said.

Washington — Diplomatic action rather than military retaliation will be the Nixon administration's essential response to North Korea's shooting down of a U.S. reconnaissance plane, officials indicated Wednesday.

Though confident — in the words of the Pentagon — that the Navy intelligence aircraft was "at all times" on its mission "far outside" the 12-mile territorial limit and air space claimed by North Korea, the administration was said to be in no mood to invite further military conflict.

U.S. May Request Apology

Instead, officials left the impression that they will mount a deliberate diplomatic campaign of some kind to caution the North Koreans against further incidents, including perhaps a request for an apology for the apparent loss of the crew of 31.

Analyzing the available evidence, officials did establish to their own satisfaction that the lost plane had been shot down by North Korean aircraft.

Some of this evidence was said to be debris gathered by two Soviet destroyers that joined the vain search for survivors. Military sources reported that the lost plane had not called for help or indicated the approach of hostile fighters.

High-Level Discussions

President Nixon, who strongly committed himself during last year's political campaign to a policy that would make a "fourth-rate military power" such as North Korea regain "respect" for the United States, presided over several high-level discussions of the incident Wednesday. But his spokesmen added nothing to the Pentagon's factual reports and worked hard to avoid any suggestion of crisis.

The armed forces ordered a variety of alerts and preparations for action in and around Korea, but only against the contingency, it was said, of a further deterioration in the situation.

After concentrating all day on the search for survivors of the Navy EC121 aircraft, the government devoted most resources Wednesday to a systematic effort at a reconstruction of the incident. Only diplomatic action received serious consideration and the prevailing mood here was contained in this general statement on international affairs by Secretary of State William P. Rogers:

"The weak can be rash; the powerful must be more restrained. Complexity in world affairs should teach us the need to act responsibly, to substitute cooperation for coercion, and to move from confrontation to negotiation on the issues that divide nations."

Addresses Editors

Rogers appeared here before a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. To a question about the incident, he said only that Nixon planned to comment publicly at his previously scheduled news conference Friday at 10:30 a.m. CST.

From this and other evidence, the administration appeared to have concluded that there was no great popular pressure for strident talk or action against North Korea.

In fact, the dominant concern in the administration was to devise a diplomatic response that would not advertise its essential impotence. Persuaded now that there were no survivors and that none of the crew had been captured, officials concluded there was nothing meaningful that they wanted North Korea to do.

They did wish to warn the North Koreans about what they should not do against either United States or South Korean installations, ships, planes or personnel. Washington was in close touch with South Korean authorities to make certain that other possible attacks could be dealt with.

Sen. Orme Offers Alternative To Censure

. . . NO ACTION TAKEN ON EDUCATION BOARD RESOLUTION

By The Associated Press

The Nebraska Legislature's Education Committee was offered an alternative Wednesday to its pending resolution to censure a majority of members of the State Board of Education and to commend State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller.

The alternative resolution — which would praise three board members and Dr. Miller without making reference to the others — was suggested by Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln.

She told the committee at a lively public hearing on the pending Resolution 36 that she prefers to gain ends by commending rather than censuring.

No Action

The committee, weary after a 3½ hour sitting, took no action on the resolution.

Resolution 36 was sponsored chiefly by Sen. Don Elrod of Grand Island, who said it was prompted by disclosure last week of a letter attributed to board member John K. Londay of Omaha, discussing plans to "execute" Dr. Miller at a board meeting scheduled last Friday in Omaha. The firing of Dr. Miller did not occur, however.

Elrod Wednesday made two requests of the Education Committee:

1. That it hold the resolution for 30 days to await developments within the board.

2. That the resolution be amended to identify board members Dr. Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk, John A. Wagoner of Grand Island, Londay, Mrs. Deborah H. Shepherd of Lexington and Lloyd V. Wright of Reynolds as the board members being censured.

Charged Majority

The original resolution merely charged a majority of the eight-member board as impeding educational improvements in the state, without naming names.

Sen. Orme's alternative resolution praises board members Frank E. Landis of Lincoln, Norman A. Otto of Millard and Robert G. Simmons of Scottsbluff, "who have so diligently attempted to establish necessary sound and progressive programs within the state system of education."

The Orme resolution also commended Dr. Miller "for his sincere efforts and interest in carrying out his assignments to this end."

The hearing on the resolution was highlighted by the appearance of board member Mrs. Shepherd.

'Shortcomings'

She submitted to the board a statement citing specific alleged shortcomings of Dr. Miller, criticizing news media for reports which "have been extremely one-sided, if not biased," and urging rejection of the resolution.

"If this committee, by majority vote, recommends that this resolution be adopted by the Legislature in the face of this information, you will not only be condoning what has occurred but are, in effect, saying that the laws of this state mean nothing or have no application when they involve the commissioner of education.

"If this committee advances this resolution to destroy the elected representatives of the people and, through them, their voice in educational matters, you will have elevated the office of commissioner of education to a dictatorship, and there would be no need for a State Board of Education at all."

Slap Voters

The fact that education board members are elected and that the censure of them would slap the faces of the voters who selected them was repeatedly voiced.

Farmer-rancher Tom Elson of Curtis, opposing the resolution, said approval of it would be "telling the people of Nebraska that voted these members in that they made a mistake."

Mrs. Leo Cooksley of Broken Bow said she had supported the candidacy of Mrs. Shepherd and "if you censure her, you censure us."

Witnesses favoring the resolution including Arnold Norskov of Albion, representing the Nebraska PTA; Dr. Anne Campbell of Lincoln, representing the Lincoln Board of Education and the Nebraska School Boards Association; Platte County School Supt. Gladys Breidert of Columbus; Harold McClure of Kearney, president of the Nebraska Association of School Administrators; Mrs. J. H. Dunlap of Norfolk, mother and former teacher whose testimony dealt with the performance of Dr. Burkhardt as school administrator in Norfolk, and Executive secretary John Lynch of the Nebraska State Education Association.

Masked Bandit Gets Coins In Bold Heist

A man wearing a white hood robbed a 59-year-old Lincoln woman of approximately $135 in assorted coins Wednesday afternoon.

Effie M. Kennedy, housekeeper for Charles Farber, 1230 So. 1st, was working in the house when a man came to the door wearing "a pillowcase over his head with only two slits in it to see out of."

According to Miss Kennedy, the man asked her for her money and when she said she didn't have any, he pulled a pistol and replied, "I know you have money."

"I gave him a brown ceramic bank full of pennies and a glass bottle full of nickels, dimes and quarters," she said.

The masked bandit grabbed the money and backed out of the house and got into a car being driven by another person, she said.

"I don't know what kind of car it was," Miss Kennedy said, "he wouldn't let me near the door."

Lincoln police officials said they were confident the masked bandit would be apprehended.

"The weight of the pennies alone would be over 35 pounds," one police official said.

"Besides, that's an awful lot of loose change to spend."

Two Road Bond Proposals Given Okay By Committees

Bills to create a highway bond commission and to authorize the issuance of $30 million in highway bonds during the coming fiscal biennium were sent to the floor of the Legislature Wednesday.

LB948, establishing the commission which would issue the bonds, cleared the Public Works Committee on a 5-0 vote.

LB1305, which authorizes the issuance of $20 million in special obligation highway bonds this year and an additional $10 million issue in 1971, was approved by the Revenue Committee on a 6-1 count.

Interstate Put First

The revenue unit amended LB1305 to specify that Interstate Highway construction will be alloted first priority on use of the revenue funds.

State Engineer Marvin Nuernberger has told both committees that the $20 million issue will go to speed Interstate construction in the Omaha area and in western Nebraska, and for the new Interstate bridge at Sioux City.

Nuernberger hopes to use the $10 million issue to bring all roads on the state highway system up to minimum standards.

Both bills will need 33 votes on the floor if the highway bond issue is to provide funds during this year's construction season.

In any event, 30 votes are required to authorize the issuance of any bonds.

The two bills are the first in a package of 16 Legislative Council highway study recommendations to reach the floor. The other proposals are still awaiting committee hearings.

Voters last fall approved the use of special obligation bonds secured by highway user revenue to accelerate the construction of roads in the state.

Officials Say U.S. Response To Be Diplomatic

(C) New York Times News Service

Washington — The Nixon administration will respond to North Korea's shooting down of a United States reconnaissance plane with diplomatic action rather than military retaliation, officials said Wednesday. A deliberate campaign to caution the North Koreans against further incidents will probably be mounted, including perhaps a request for an apology for the apparent loss of the 31-man crew. Hard-Liners Get Help

Prague — The executive committee of the ruling presidium sought to rehabilitate in the eyes of the Czechoslovak people a group of hard-line conservatives, including men many believe were picked by the Soviet Union to assume leadership during the Soviet invasion last August. It declared the men had been "slandered" on the basis of "unfounded data and fabrications."

Retaliation Not Expected

Washington — The Army, Navy and Air Force ordered a variety of alerts for action in and around Korea, but ranking military men made clear they did not expect a decision to retaliate.

Viet Politics Surging

Saigon — A new surge of South Vietnamese political activity has been set off by last week's decision by President Thieu to form a broad-based government party to compete with the Viet Cong National Liberation Front in the postwar political struggle. Observers are wondering what chance of survival the South Vietnamese political institutions would have in such a contest.

U.S., Cambodia To Resume Ties

Washington — The United States and Cambodia said talks will begin shortly on the timing and other formalities of a resumption of diplomatic relations, broken four years ago. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian ruler, said the United States had formally pledged to recognize Cambodia's borders.

Liberal Victory Seen

Washington — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch said after a meeting with President Nixon that the administration planned no changes for school desegregation guidelines. The decision appeared to be a victory for liberals who had urged Finch to stand fast despite Southern pressure to soften desegregation enforcement.

Remarriage Reforms Favored

Houston —The American bishops of the Roman Catholic Church voted to simplify and speed up the procedures by which diocesan marriage courts decide whether divorced Catholics are free to remarry. The 26 reforms must now be approved by the Vatican.

Long's Appointment Blocked

Washington — The appointment of Franklin A. Long as the new director of the National Science Foundation has been blocked by the White House, largely because of his opposition to the antiballistic missile system. Long said in an article that it would generate "strong pressure toward acceleration of the arms race."

Water Pollution Controls Tightened

Washington — The House, by a vote of 392-1, passed legislation tightening federal controls over pollution of coastal waters and rivers. (More on Page 2.)

Pope To Visit Geneva

Rome — Pope Paul said he will go to Geneva in June to speak to an International Labor Organization's 50th anniversary meeting. He will be the first Pope to visit Geneva, "the Protestant Rome." He will also visit the headquarters of the World Council of Churches.

Reds Rain Rockets On Da Nang City

Saigon (AP — Two rocket barrages hit Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, about midnight Wednesday and Vietnamese officials said initial reports listed six persons killed and 40 wounded.

It was the first time in almost a month that the city in the northernmost 1st Corps area had been shelled. The attack by fire there was one of several across the country as the enemy's spring offensive moved through its eighth week.

South Vietnamese officials in Saigon reported fifteen 122mm rockets crashed into the Da Nang area in two barrages, one just before and the other a few minutes after midnight. They said two South Vietnamese soldiers and four civilians were killed and 29 civilians and 11 soldiers were wounded. Seven houses and two military trucks were reported to have been destroyed.

With its numerous U.S. Army, Navy and Marine installations, the Da Nang area has been hit regularly since the enemy offensive opened Feb. 23. This was the fifth shelling to hit the city itself and is the first since March 19.

Of eight shells that struck inside the city, one rocket exploded in a warehouse containing barrels of chemicals and lubricating oils at a major tank farm on the southern edge of the city, setting off a large fire.

Vietnamese and American firemen quickly controlled the warehouse blaze. It was in the explosion in the warehouse that the American soldier was injured.

15 Other Shellings

There were about 15 other shellings against towns and allied military installations overnight. Among those hit were the base camp of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, and some defensive positions of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division, 35 miles northwest of the capital. No American casualties were reported.

In ground fighting, South Vietnamese troops reported killing 24 enemy late Wednesday in a clash 107 miles northeast of Saigon.

June Draft Call Is 25,900 Men

Washington (UPI) — The Defense Department said Wednesday it will need 25,900 draftees in June, 2,000 of them for the Marine Corps.

Citing an increase in voluntary applications as the reason, it cut the 1969 draft of physicians from 460 to 246 and the induction of optometrists from 25 to 10.

The regular draft call for April is 33,000 and May, 27,600.

State Call 203

The Nebraska draft call for June is 203 men, according to State Selective Service headquarters.

The figure is down 40 from the 243 men called in May and the 291 from Nebraska in April. The call in April was the highest in the state during 1969.

Stanford Profs Against Doing Secret Research

By The Associated Press

Protest and disorder persisted on major college campuses Wednesday, ranging from a strong move to end secret research at Stanford to an assault on the president's office at Queens College.

At Harvard, the faculty prepared to vote Thursday on a resolution that would virtually abolish the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, and at Columbia Negro students called for a one-day strike, also Thursday.

The National Student Association said Wednesday it is challenging in federal court the constitutionality of legislation that would authorize colleges to cut off federal aid to students who engage in disruptive protests.

At Stanford in Palo Alto, Calif., the faculty senate voted in favor of adopting a university policy against secret research.

Stanford President Kenneth S. Pitzer endorsed the vote, saying: "It is entirely reasonable to press toward the elimination of secrecy."

This action came as students continued a sit-in begun last Wednesday in the university's Applied Electronics Laboratory on campus, where classified military research is conducted.

Queens College students in New York City, escalating a week-long sit-in, tried to break into the office of the president, Joseph McMurray, and other offices. Officials barricaded the doors with desks and filing cabinets, one professor said. McMurray's office said the students did not get into his office but did break into several others.

The students were demanding withdrawal of criminal trespass charges against 38 students and a faculty member arrested in an April 1 sit-in.

The administration announced Wednesday dropping charges against three students who were allegedly involved in the ouster from campus of a General Electric Co. recruiter. The April 1 sit-in was a protest against action taken against the three students.

One faculty member in the president's office, Dr. Nathaniel Siegel, sociology chairman, said by telephone there were about 100 students in the building.

"They may well starve us out," he said. "But most of us are overweight, anyway."

The Columbia Students' Afro-American Society announced plans for a one-day strike on the Morningside Heights campus. Earlier, 16 Negro students walked out of the Columbia admissions office, ending a sit-in that began last Monday.

Martin Votes Against Clean Water

Washington (AP) — The House approved Wednesday a three-year, $368-million program to broaden and tighten laws against water pollution and provide stiff penalties for violators.

It sent to the Senate by roll-call vote of 392 to 1 a bill aimed at preventing pollution from ships, mines and industrial facilities, after refusing to approve a $100 million fund to help clean up Lake Erie and other large water area. The "no" vote was cast by Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., who consistently opposes spending money.

The funds approved in the new legislation would be provided in each of the next three fiscal years and include $20 million for a pollution cleanup fund, $15 million for acid mine drainage, $62 million for training grants and contracts, $121 million for project research and $130 million for general research, investigation and training.

An additional $20 million would be authorized for a study of how to clean up Lake Erie and other large lakes and water areas involving groups of states.

Shoplifting costs all of us. It costs the consumer higher prices for merchandise. (stores must have some way to recover their losses) It costs those who are convicted of it; often leading to probation, fines, and in the worst cases, imprisonment.

Nixon Asks Slash In Ag Budget

Washington (AP) — A cut of $145 million in the Agriculture Department budget for 1969-70 has been requested by the Nixon administration.

The budget proposal, announced this week, also shows a $121 million increase in spending authority for the Commodity Credit Corp., which finances price support loans and payments to farmers.

The Nixon agriculture budget also sought a total of $1,461,343,000 authorization for all federal feed programs, an increase of about $15 million from what the Johnson administration had recommended in January.

The Nixon budget also included shifts from some child feeding programs to direct distribution of commodities to needy families.

Included was a cut of $5.7 million in grants to states operating child feeding programs, with most of the reduction made in special nonschool food programs operated in needy areas.

Another $9.3 million was trimmed from food programs for institutions such as veterans hospitals and penal facilities.

The budget proposal for agriculture totaled $7,558,100,000, compared with the Johnson administration request for $7,702,700,000.

A department spokesman said expected total outlay for the year is about $7.2 billion, compared with nearly $7.5 billion he said was the adjusted Johnson spending projection.

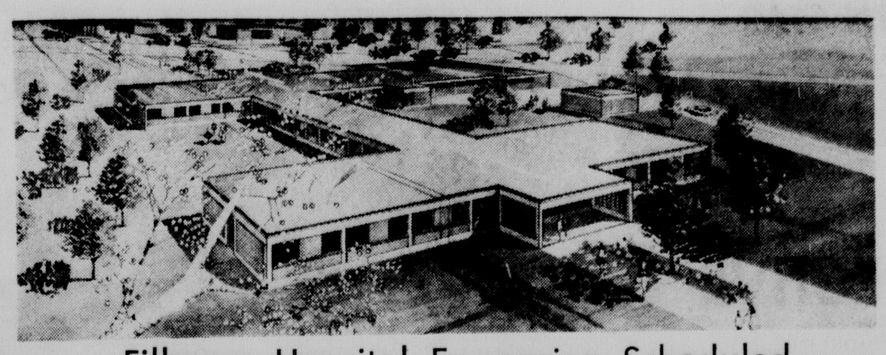
$263 Million Cut

This would mean a net reduction in 1969-70 agriculture spending of around $263 million from what the Johnson administration had indicated, the spokesman said.

Besides the proposed increase for CCC and food programs, other budget raises included $10 million for financing federal crop insurance, and $1.5 million for control of screwworms in livestock.

The department said the $120 million cutback in conservation included $100 million originally intended for new projects under the Agricultural Conservation Program, which helps farmers pay costs of certain land improvements, plus a savings in administration costs.

Other reductions below the Johnson budget included: overseas aid under Food for Freedom $30 million; Farmers Home Administration $24 million and savings from increased Forest Service receipts $88 million.



Fillmore Hospital Expansion Scheduled

Bids will be opened at Geneva Thursday for an expansion of the Fillmore County Hospital. The 7,930-square-foot addition involves a new 20-bed extended care facility and expanded administrative space. Another part of the project is remodeling of recovery, intensive care and emergency areas. The extended care addition will have 10 rooms, each with two beds, a 700-square-foot recreational area and supportive facilities. Estimated cost of the project is $260,000.

Request For Davis Release Turned Down

The State Supreme Court has specifically turned down a request that the Hall County District Court be directed to release convicted murderer Thomas F. Davis on bail, court records showed Wednesday.

Davis' attorney, John Mitchell of Omaha, had asked the court to allow Davis to be free on bail to take care of personal and family matters while his conviction is appealed to the Supreme Court.

Davis received a life sentence after his March conviction of first degree murder in connection with the death of his wife, Phyllis, last August.

The court, in an earlier order, suspended temporarily execution of the life sentence while the appeal is pending, but did not specifically act on the request for release on bail in that order.

Biafra's Capital Evacuated

© New York Times Service

Paris — Biafra's provisional capital of Umuahia has been evacuated and faces imminent assault from advancing Nigerian armored columns, according to reliable reports reaching the European headquarters of relief agencies operating in Biafra.

The Nigerians are reported to be within rocket and artillery range of the town, whose pre-war population was about 30,000.

Philippe Decraene, Le Monde's African expert, reported from Biafra's Uli Airport Wednesday that Umuahia was shelled Monday. By late afternoon, he said, thousands of civilians had fled the city to the west, leaving behind only the military and Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu.

In an interview with the Biafran leader Sunday, Decraene quoted Ojukwu as saying his place was "with the troops."

Ojukwu added that because of the latest Nigerian drive, he would be unable to leave Biafra for Thursday's meeting in Monrovia, Liberia, of a special committee of the Organization of African Unity seeking to negotiate the war's end.

Umuahia has little strategic importance. But its loss would be a major psychological blow for the Biafrans and would vastly swell the already staggering number of Biafran refugees. Thousands were reported lining the roads west of Umuahia without food or shelter.

According to relief agency reports, the evacuation of government offices appeared to be fairly orderly. Contingency plans had been made long ago to transfer the government to nearby Orlu in the event Umuahia was threatened.

Warm Welcome Greets Ice Capades' 28th Edition

The 28th edition of the Ice Capades received a warm reception here Wednesday evening as the show opened its 5-day stand at Pershing Auditorium.

An estimated 3,000 persons viewed 2½ hours of entertainment which ranged from a look at Napoleon in "The Night Before Waterloo," to a glimpse of the "Wild, Wild, Wild West" during a cross-country tour called "America Swings."

Especially popular were the antics of George Bussey, Vic Zoble, national diving champion turned tramp-o diver, and a host of skating lollipops and gingerbread men.

In an iridescent special ballet number, "Ritual of the Waters," Michael Garren, Sahi Kuchiki and newcomer, Ardith Paul, skated through solos while Pepe, swam inside a giant water-filled pearl.

Other newcomers to the program included 1968 Olympic gold medal winners Wolfgang Schwarz and Roy and Sandi Wagelein.

Another feature of the show was the Three Toddys — a father, son and daughter acrobatic act from Europe which switched from a nonskating act into an on-the-ice feature in three years.

The Magic Screen, introduced at the Ice Capades last season, again combined live and motion picture action for the show.

The Ice Capades will continue at Pershing through Sunday with evening performances at 8 p.m. each night and matinees at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Storm Dumps Heavy Rains

Thunderstorms across the state early Wednesday dumped locally heavy precipitation, with hail some places up to one inch in diameter.

The thunderstorms occurred in a warm southerly airflow from the Plains to the upper Mississippi Valley. A contrasting cold wave spread down from the central Rockies.

Most of Nebraska received rain and accumulations of one inch were common. Several spots received more than two inches.

The heaviest precipitation fell in a 50-mile-wide band from Hays, Kan., to Lincoln. Lincoln received 1.85 inches in a six-hour period.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said no flooding was expected to develop from the rains, but the Big Blue River was expected to reach one-half bankful at Beatrice Thursday morning. Turkey Creek crested slightly under bankful Wednesday afternoon.

There is a chance of more rain in southeastern Nebraska Thursday. Generally it will be warmer around the state and in the Panhandle the probability of rain is near zero per cent.

Panyarachun Will Address Kearney Meet

Kearney (UPI) — Ambassador Anano Panyarachun will address the sixth annual Midwest Conference on World Affairs at Kearney State College at a 1:30 p.m. session to be held in Cushing coliseum on Tuesday, April 22.

Born in Bangkok, Thailand in 1932, the ambassador has risen swiftly in the foreign service to achieve his present position. After graduating from high school, in Bangkok, he went to England for his college education, receiving a B.A. degree (with honors) from Cambridge.

In 1955 he joined the Thailand ministry of foreign affairs and was assigned to the United Nations section. He has served in New York since that time, being appointed as ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the United Nations and ambassador to Canada in 1967.

Biafran Aid Sought

University of Nebraska Young Democrats will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the NU Student Union to discuss plans for a fund raising drive in downtown Lincoln Saturday in support of the "Keep Biafrans Alive" campaign. An NU student from Biafra and a Peace Corps worker who recently returned from Nigeria will address the group.

Soviets To Fire Series Of Rockets Into Pacific Area

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union announced Wednesday it will fire a series of rockets into the Pacific Ocean from April 17 to June 15.

The Soviet government has asked countries using air and sea routes to avoid the target area for "safety purposes," the official news agency Tass said.

Western experts said the series may be designed for testing of Soviet rocket carriers needed for their space program.

The Russians are believed to be working on new and bigger rockets needed for sending a man to the moon and bringing him back.

77 Rebels Killed

New Delhi (UPI) — Indian troops killed 77 rebel Naga tribesmen and captured 1,435 others during a one-year period ended last Feb. 28, Defense Minister Swaran Singh told parliament.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

President Nixon's substitute State of the Union message earlier this week carried no surprises. Pending submission of details in the form of legislation, one is still left with little other than speculation with which to view the future.

The President emphasized performance in defending his administration's lack of a legislative program to date and noted that the first priority of his term has been peace on the international scene. The only trouble with this is that it fails to recognize what many believe is a volatile situation on the home front.

There are two key elements in the 10 action areas the President discussed in his message to Congress. One calls for plans on sharing of federal revenues with state and local governments.

A second area of concern involves a program of tax credits for enlisting the help of business and industry in the social welfare and anti-poverty programs.

Even when these approaches are put into legislative form, we will be some time away from a factual understanding of what they will accomplish. It will not be until they have been in actual practice for a period of time that the effectiveness of these programs will be known.

But it is hard to avoid skepticism in looking at the future. The problem in federal revenue-sharing is that the funds involved will have no predetermined purpose. They will go to the states, with the states to do with them as they please.

A lot of people think this is exactly what should be done and maybe it will be a good thing. But how many states will use these funds constructively and in the areas of greatest national concern?

Some states may find federal revenue-sharing a good way to cut back on local spending. And some states may not divert any of the federal aid into the social welfare and anti-poverty areas that are a major problem today.

Even more questionable is the matter of tax incentives to lure private business and industry into these same areas of concern. To begin with, this will not represent a cut in federal costs, even though it may allow for an enviable looking budget.

Rather than collecting money and spending it, the government under this program will simply not make the collection. Then, where the collection is skipped, the funds should be diverted into whatever is finally decided upon as an appropriate anti-poverty program.

An industry, for example, might be given a tax deduction for all funds it diverts into the training of people for jobs from the low-income level of society. Presumably, the same thing could be done in the area of housing, transportation and perhaps some others.

But there is a serious question as to the ability of private industry to undertake this job. Whether such a program is compatible with private enterprise remains to be seen.

Of further concern is the erosion of the nation's tax base for the accomplishment of humanitarian objectives. One of the major problems of the income tax now is that it is riddled with too many loopholes conceived with some worthy social or economic objective in mind.

Such loopholes have a way of being abused and we wonder if incentives for social welfare programs will not end that way.

Thus, we remain at a point of hope rather than any stage of action. The hope is that what the new administration proposes ends up with more merit than it seems to have at this stage and that there is sufficient time for it to be inaugurated.

For a variety of reasons, past anti-poverty programs have fallen short of the mark. Another approach with the same results could be disasterous.

Leave The Dove As Is

We don't envy the Legislature's Agriculture and Recreation Committee its job this Thursday. This is the day the group will hear the proposed measure to make the mourning dove a game bird.

The hearing should be a bore because there is nothing that can be said on this subject that has not been said before. Proponents of the change have had some legitimate arguments, for as far as such arguments have gone, but senators have so far not stopped with the strict legalisms of the matter.

Rather, senators have gone on to look at the more humanitarian aspects of the issue. In doing so, they have recognized that the human side of the picture is far more impressive than the legalistic side. Hopefully, they will do the same thing this year and kill the bill in committee.

The human consideration is that the dove serves no purpose on the game list and that there is no point in killing the bird. With its status as a song bird maintained, the mourning dove continues to serve as an example of man's respect and appreciation for nature and his sensitivity to the preservation of life.

The prudent and concerned sportsman should be able to recognize the important distinction in this question. One simply does not exploit the bounties of nature without good and sufficient cause and there is no such cause for changing the classification of the dove.

Let this gentle creature live in the outdoors as nature intended. Let it remain as a thing of beauty, peace and freedom of spirit rather than another senseless assault on life.

Where Is The New Leadership?

President Nixon now has his back to the wall concerning the loss of the U.S. Navy electronics aircraft allegedly shot down by the North Koreans in international waters. If it were indeed an act of air piracy, another Pueblo incident, the President will be called upon to put to a test his campaign promise that "in a new administration, I say we've got to stop that kind of action against the United States before it gets started."

The President as a campaigner was quick to fault the Johnson administration for letting the U.S. "be pushed around by fourth-rate powers," and he suggested that the handling of the Pueblo incident called for new leadership in Washington.

Of course, what this country does not need is the type of reaction expressed by a supposedly responsible public figure — House Armed Services Committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C.—who advocates a "let 'em have it" approach with nuclear retaliation if necessary "to bring this crowd to its knees."

Now that the men and equipment have been lost — and conditions should have been such that they would not have been lost—search for the wreckage and a determination of the facts behind the incident should be the first order of business, not frustrated and misdirected talk of immediate retaliation.

The President should then decide whether such reconnaissance missions as undertaken by the Pueblo and the electronics aircraft are fruitful enough to warrant their being continued and if so, he could order them protected to the fullest extent to belatedly assure the encouraged North Koreans that the next time they want to pirate a ship or shoot down an unarmed aircraft, they themselves will be taking a risk. Our planes and ships need protection even in international waters where it should not be needed.

Dove Habits

Ord, Neb.

I just cannot let this statement go unchallenged. It was made quite some time ago by Mrs. Calista Hughes, and I quote:

"An ornithologist says that the mourning dove is as bloodthirsty as an eagle."

However, she failed to give us the name of the ornithologist, so we might check on his or her qualifications.

I give as my authority Dr. H. Eliot McClure, who is now in Bangkok, Thailand with the U.S. Pathological Survey. He was written a book titled, "Whistling Wings," and if Mrs. Hughes would like to know the habits of the mourning dove, she should read it. Dr. McClure not only raised them but wrote his doctorate on them. He was first in Japan, then Malaya.

I do hope Mrs. Hughes knows more about the new appointment that the governor has given her than she does about the much maligned dove. As for the man in Omaha who is worrying about his son's target practice, let him try something constructive and shoot crows. I'm sure the farmers would welcome that.

Plea For The Dove

Friend, Neb.

Here I come to defend the most sacred birds, the doves. In the morning, their cooing sounds just as if they were saying their morning prayers.

Why shoot these innocent birds? If the hunters are so hungry to shoot, why don't they go out and shoot some coyotes and racoons. These animals do extensive damage in killing little calves, pigs, chickens, etc.

So take pity on the doves. Let the hunters grease up their guns and go after the coyotes and leave the doves and the other birds.

Now Or Never

Nelson, Neb.

The scientific findings of the last 20 years not only render the U.S.A. school structure obsolete but turn the population generally into drop-outs, educationally. Solution: U.S.A. living quarters may become classrooms via TV and radio. We are all obligated as perpetual students and these immediate media can effect overnight the exciting scientific enlightenment of everyone. Momentary massive instruction-learning is in. Astronaut John Glenn well observed: "Science is for everyone, not just the experts."

The people have to demand biology and ethical TV films and broadcasts because profit-seeking TV and radio executives listen only to the advertisers. This is the cue: The advertisers have to be assured of our desire to learn. We are never too old. This is another scientific revolution: that time is not and "your age is in your head."

Ever overrated Harvard University has been the academic scene's big drag because it is patterned after England's Oxford University which is administered by antediluvians. This means, according to the Oxford dictionary, "belonging . . . to the time before the flood."

Science coerces everyone into a personal cerebral revolution. Atomic formations between our ears are due for a big overhaul. Those whirling dervishes, the negatively charged electrons orbiting, spiraling around our cranium-housed nuclei, are capable of new spinnings and directions: to concepts of worldwide brotherliness, abolition of poverty, discard of race and immortality myths. It is heaven here and now or never.

Farmer Speaks Up

Imperial, Neb.

After reading Glenn Kreuscher's column, "The Farm Roundup," I have to put in my six cents worth.

That conference held at the University of Nebraska by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin brought out just what our government officials think of the farmer.

I take my hat off to those folks who went to that meeting and I say, too, that I think the farmers are going to demand more for their efforts in feeding the world. I am glad they showed just what can be done in numbers.

Some thought the farmers were rude. That's a laugh! Maybe they weren't all dressed up in stuffed shirts like some of our high-paid officials, but I'll bet they were more human than a lot of others who were there.

We need more meetings like that to acquaint the public with the truth.

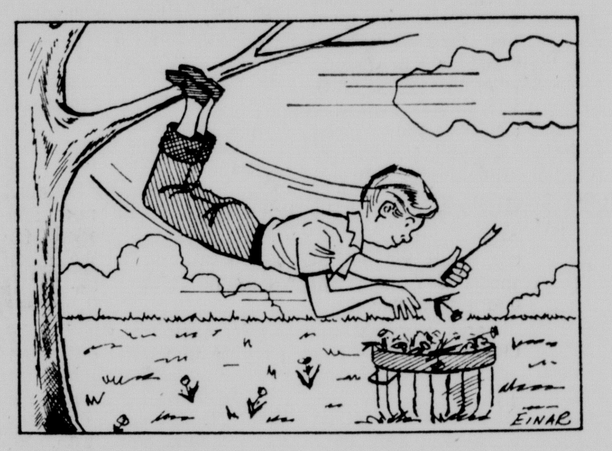
Patchwork Prairie Country



I have faith that spring is coming, I keep telling myself to buoy my spirits. To reinforce my belief, I purchased two rose bushes a week ago and thought the ground would be ready for working in a day or two. Since that time we have had rain showers and more rain showers interspersed with a bit of sunlight. The ground is muddy.

When I told The Farmer I didn't know how I would ever get the roses planted, he said he thought the ground was soft and muddy enough that I could just push them in the soil.

Well, it rained again this morning so I may find myself doing that very thing, ridiculous as it may seem.

Digging dandelions is work, especially after a long winter has allowed the muscles to become soft with disuse. Armed with a sharp cutting tool, I strode into the front yard prepared to dig every dandelion I saw. First I tried bending from the hips although I did not have the poise and grace a physical education teacher would have liked to see in one of his students. This position was short-lived as I found my neck muscles rebelling and my back locked like a half-open, half closed jackknife . . . painful and unyielding.

With much determination, bit by bit I straightened to an upright position and decided kneeling would be much easier. This I did while the joints snapped and crackled and popped. Dig, dig, dig. Snap, crackle, pop. It was not long until I felt a twinge in the backs of my legs and the calves became tight as banjo strings. This would never do. Rigor mortis must surely be setting in, I decided, trying desperately to grin and bear it. Grinning was not easy, I found when the stiff muscles were hinged so tightly they creaked.

Perhaps I should change to a larger tool such as a spade for digging the pests from the lawn. I tried this method but it was too large, leaving a hole in the blue grass each time that had to be filled by stooping over . . . the very thing I was trying to eliminate.

I could hang by my toes from the lower limbs of the big elms in the yard and gouge the dandelions out by a direct approach. There would be no bending involved. My aching back would retain a straight up-and-down position, although neighbors driving by might become alarmed thinking I was a three-toed sloth hanging upside down from a tree. Goodness knows, after such a hard winter as we rural people have had, I would not wish to subject them to any more. Ring-tailed coons, opossums or squirrels in the trees — but never sloths.

Suddenly I became aware of a faint stirring and my mind came up with a delightful idea. Instead of digging the dandelions, we could eat them . . . delicious dandelion greens with a vinegar dressing. I will gladly share our excess with anyone for the picking.

Brothers Don, Sam Cause For Concern

WASHINGTON — All of a sudden, a couple of presidential brothers, hitherto kept in the background, have been caught by the spotlight. President Nixon's brother, Ed, abruptly gave up a government job in Alaska and ex-President Johnson's brother, Sam, found a publisher for his memoirs.

The inside fact is that both Presidents have gnawed their fingernails over their brothers. The late President Eisenhower was also unhappy about his brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore. It isn't Ed, however, who worries President Nixon so much as his other brother, Don.

Both Don Nixon and Sam Johnson have not been averse to taking advantage of their brothers' position for their own benefit. When Richard Nixon was vice president, Don wangled a $205,000 loan from billionaire Howard Hughes, a major government contractor. The loan was never repaid.

President Nixon no sooner had moved into the White House in January than Don began sounding out business acquaintances about business deals.

White House intimates, including communications chief Herb Klein, have cautioned the President to keep a leash on Don. But a president can't always control his brother.

While Lyndon Johnson was in the White House, for example, Sam would turn up in North Carolina or Mexico scouting for deals that could have backfired against the President.

Last month it was reported that Sam was peddling his memoirs in New York City. Reporters finally tracked Sam down at El Morocco. He acknowledged that his memoirs, which he said would be called "My Brother Lyndon," had just been sold to Look Magazine.

☆ ☆ ☆

The late President Kennedy, though apprehensive over how the public would take it, decided to bring his brother out into the open as attorney general and passed it off with a quip about wanting to give his brother some legal experience.

If President Kennedy could appoint his brother to the cabinet, Richard Nixon felt he at least could offer his brother a minor government job. Ed happens to be a conscientious, likeable fellow fully qualified for government service.

Ed chose a government job in Alaska because he happens to like Alaska, but when the new federal law against nepotism was called to his attention, he immediately abandoned his plans in the middle of his Anchorage house hunting.

New York City May Turn Mayor Lindsay Out; No Financial Support Offered By Rockefeller

NEW YORK — Confronting a sea of troubles threatening to overwhelm him, Mayor John Vliet Lindsay nevertheless gives out with a fine show of confidence. In his sunny office in the new official wing of Gracie Mansion, he is as handsome, as commanding as his televised presence that is a principal asset in the television era.

The mayor is on the phone with a friend in Washington. What, you mean they can't get it out of committee, he says. Well, there it is, a somber, resigned tone in his normally vibrant voice; they're fiddling while the country burns.

The mayoralty election in New York City is the most conspicuous political contest in the nation this year. If the Democrats could take it, the signal for the congressional elections in 1970 would be loud and clear. Lindsay's re-election would mean that — with both senators, the governor and the mayor — New York state would be a Republican bastion, with the Democrats demoralized and in disarray.

In the context of the old politics—New York City as a contest between rivals seeking personal power — the whole business seems as irrelevant as a torch light parade. For this city of 8,000,000 souls teeters on the edge of bankruptcy and breakdown. The ancient labels—conservative, liberal, Democrat, Republican — mean little in relation to the desperate needs of the city and its relation to the state and federal governments.

The turn is to the right and that means cuts by both Albany and Washington in money for services that could rebuild the ghetto, train the jobless, rehabilitate the schools and help in the fight on crime. For Lindsay, this is not theory, not a maneuver in the political game, but a hard, painful fact.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, running next year for an unprecedented fourth term, knows how the wind is blowing against new taxes and more social services. So he is cutting the budget of state aid for New York City by 5 per cent. That means paring hospital services, welfare, almost every department down the line in the city's budget that the mayor produces this week.

Prior to the November election, Lindsay faces a primary contest in June. His principal opponent is State Senator John J. Marchi from Staten Island, a conservative who attacks Lindsay's record. He might be dismissed as an also-ran except for certain dark doubts.

The strong suspicion in the Lindsay camp is that Rockefeller would not be too unhappy to see the mayor defeated. When they meet on ceremonial occasions, it is with all the warm cordiality of two rival entries in the Westminster Kennel Club show — correct, formal, polite. And there is the fact, or Lindsay's people believe it is a fact, that Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson is actively supporting Marchi.

Campaigns, even primaries, cost a lot, perhaps in this instance $500,000. Because there are so few registered Republicans — 600,000, which is 140,000 fewer than when Fiorello LaGuardia was mayor 30 years ago — you have to work all the harder to reach them. And the Rockefeller purse is shut tight.

With the racial confrontation in the school system, the Republicans concentrated in pockets in Queens and the Bronx are more conservative than ever before. They fear the blacks, putting down all crime to the Negro. They grumble that Lindsay has done everything for the black minority, about 20 per cent of the population, and nothing for anyone else.

This is the witches' brew of the old politics. On a reading today of his troubles—the garbage strike, the teachers' strike, the longshoremen's strike — Lindsay is out. Yet he has the power of the incumbent and his salvation could come through the Liberal party, which is another part of the mixture as before. Endorsement by the Liberals or even a clear field in a primary in the Liberal party could turn the tide.

Richard Auerlio, Lindsay's knowledgeable campaign manager, is looking past the primary. Conceivably, he says, Lindsay could run as an independent in November against two figures out of the old politics, Marchi on the Republican side, and, say, former Mayor Robert F. Wagner on the Democratic line. Wagner belatedly jumped into a race already scrambled by seven other Democratic candidates.

In this difficult interval, Lindsay is prodding and pushing as best he can to get help for the city. He told Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz during a recent visit that he would have to prod President Nixon to move faster on domestic programs and oppose him on other fronts. The mayor at this moment is a lonely man caught in the trap of the old politics.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Years Haven't Diminished Wife's Jealousy

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q.—"I am 81 and my wife is two years younger. Ever since we were wed half a century ago she's 'protected' me from other women. I used to be traffic manager at the railroad and she made me fire three secretaries she thought were too pretty and too much of a temptation. She was recently in the hospital for a month and two of her widow friends took pity and invited me over for meals. Can you beat this—she was so jealous when she heard about it she left the hospital two days before she was supposed to just to get back and cook for me. Don't these old wives ever get over being jealous?"

A.—Apparently not. What you say confirms my impression that age doesn't much alter our emotions. If we're affectionate, haughty, aggressive, or jealous when we're young, we'll probably be much the same when we're old—maybe more so.

Q.—"I somehow avoided jury duty until I retired last year. Then they caught me and I reported for a month's duty at the courthouse. I've been there from nine to five the past three weeks and it's the worst waste of time I've ever endured. Do you know that some days I just sit there waiting and am never called? Sometimes they call me in and a lawyer asks some questions and they turn me down for duty. I've only been on one case. It lasted two days and was so stupid—some dumb gal drove into a phone pole. She wasn't hurt but was suing the phone company for emotional shock, contending that if the pole hadn't been there she wouldn't have hit it."

A. — I know what you mean — I was stuck with jury duty last year and was appalled at the inefficient use of juror's time. Jurors should be used on a random basis and lawyers shouldn't be permitted to hand-pick them with the resulting delays. And jurors should be assigned immediately to cases when they report.

Q. — "My wife has high blood pressure and edema which causes her legs to swell up like huge posts. The doctors can't do anything. She still gets around but her legs cause folks to turn and look. I'd like her to wear pants or a long skirt. But she says if people don't like the way she looks they can lump it. What do you say?"

A. — I think your wife should be sensitive to your feelings, and to the feelings of others who must look at her, and wear pants or a long skirt as often as possible. Folks who have very distorted features which make them conspicuous should do what they can to conceal them. Of course there are some situations such as going to church where it's not appropriate to wear anything but regular dress. Your wife is doubtless having a hard time these days and needs your kindness and tolerance.

Rules Satisfied By Hazard Lights On School Buses

By Associated Press

The State Department of Justice held Wednesday that the flashing "hazard" lights on some school buses satisfy a requirement of state law.

The opinion, written by Assistant Atty. Gen. C. C. Sheldon, was requested by Nebraska State Patrol Chief James E. Kruger.

State law requires that school buses, vehicles carrying passengers for hire and trucks with dangerous cargoes carry a red light on the vehicle's rear not less than 42 inches or more than 60 inches above the highway's surface.

The opinion said the "intent and purpose of the statute would appear to be that the signal be of a nature distinctive from the appearance of ordinary taillights.

The requirement is satisfied by the hazard lights, the opinion said.

Indian Law Enforcement Shift Backed

By United Press International

A resolution giving back to the federal government the responsibility for law enforcement on Indian lands in Thurston County was approved by the Legislature Wednesday.

Nebraska was given jurisdiction over Indians and Indian territory in the state in 1953 and has had it since then.

A portion of the 1968 federal civil rights law, however, authorized the federal government to accept back any or all jurisdictions given to the states under the 1953 law.

The resolution said restrictions on the lands held by Indians in Thurston County have meant the county does not have a sufficient tax base to meet the increased law enforcement costs.

The state has been giving the county assistance in the cost of law enforcement since 1957, which county officials say has risen from $30,000 to $40,000 per biennium in connection with Indians.

The resolution was drawn up by the executive board of the Legislative Council after meetings with leaders of the Omaha and Winnebago tribes, county officials and officials of the Federal Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The director of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Robert L. Bennett, said in a letter to the tribal council March 25 that it is expected it would cost $363,000 to provide a jail, court and staff housing in Macy for the federal staff to enforce the law. Bennett said he would attempt to get the funds if the Legislature passed the resolution.

The Tribal Council of the Omaha tribe has passed a resolution endorsing the transfer back to the federal government.

State Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland told the Legislature he was sure the Winnebago tribe also would be for the resolution "when they see the action of the federal government on the Omaha reservation."

Adamson Says He Discussed Ag Dept. Post

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine said Wednesday he has visited anew with U.S. Department of Agriculture officials about the possibility of an appointment to a department position, but that no appointment has been made.

Adamson returned Tuesday night from a trip to Washington on other business. While in the nation's capital, he did visit with Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin, the University of Nebraska chancellor on leave, and discussed with him "a couple of openings" in the department, Adamson said.

Liquor Tax Hike Revival Fails

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday declined to revive a bill which would have sharply hiked the excise taxes on beer and liquor, increasing revenue by an estimated $2 million a year.

Sen. Lester Harsh's motion to raise his proposal, LB975, from its Revenue Committee grave failed on a 17-23 vote. Twenty-five votes were required to revive the measure.

LB975 would have increased the beer tax by 50% and generally increased the excise tax on liquor by 25%.

The beer tax now raises $2.2 million a year, while liquor taxes produced $3,622,000 in 1968.

Supporters' Argument

Supporters of the bill argued that an increased excise tax on the products would take some of the pressure of rising expenditures from the sales-income tax system.

Opponents said the liquor industry is already overtaxed. In addition to the excise taxes, beer and liquor are subjected to the general sales tax.

Harsh's bill would have raised the per gallon tax on beer from eight to 12 cents, on wine from 20 to 25 cents, on fortified wine from 55 to 70 cents, and on liquor from $1.60 to $2.

The proposal was killed by the Revenue Committee on a 6-2 vote.

Harsh said beer is not subjected to as severe a levy as cigarettes, which are taxed at the rate of eight cents a package.

Increase Foreseen

All other taxes, including local property levies, the sales-income system and probably gasoline, will be increased, Harsh noted.

"Why should this industry be exempted?" he asked.

Revenue Chairman Jules Burbach of Crofton noted that inclusion of the products under the general sales tax in 1967 increased their tax load by an even greater amount than proposed by Harsh this year.

Prior to that, the excise rates were raised in 1963, he pointed out.

"You can't attack one industry this often," Burbach said. Nebraska's liquor taxes are in line with other states, he said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told Harsh he was "picking on a cripple," but providing no support for Carpenter's revenue bills which would increase insurance taxes and reinstitute the intangible property tax.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha said he would be pleased if the proposed increase in tax rates resulted in a reduction in consumption.

"We'd be doing a good deed," he suggested.

Vote on Harsh's motion to revive the bill:

For: Carstens, Craft, Danner, Harsh, Johnson, Kennedy, Klaver, Knight, Moulton, Orme, Schmit, Schreurs, Stull, Syas, Waldo, Whitney, Wiltse.

Against: Adamson, Batchelder, Bloom, Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Clark, Hasebrook, Holmquist, Kokes, Luedtke, Mahoney, Marvel, Proud, Robinson, Simpson, Skarda, Swanson, Waldron, Wallwey, Warner, Wenzlaff, Wylie.

Not Voting: Duis, Elrod, Keyes, Kremer, Moylan, Nore, Pedersen, Reynolds, Ziebath.

ETV Ads Measure Passed

By Associated Press

A bill authorizing the Nebraska Educational Television Commission to spend non-tax funds to advertise ETV programs was passed on final reading in the Legislature Wednesday.

Money for the advertising could come from foundations or individual gifts under terms of the measure, LB63, sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

The bill also directs the commission to provide program schedules to newspapers and other media outlets.

LB63 was sent to the governor on a 35-3 vote. Dissenters were Sens. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, Herb Nore of Genoa and William Wylie of Elgin.

Bills passed Wednesday (E-emergency clause):

LB63 (Carpenter) — Authorizing Nebraska Educational Television Commission to spend funds received from foundations, or individual gifts, to advertise ETV programs, and directing commission to provide program schedules to news media. 25-3.

LB327 (Swanson, Holmquist) — Revising standards and procedures for consolidations and mergers of building and loan associations. 41-0.

LB557 (Johnson, Holmquist, Swanson) — Revising conditions under which building and loan association may purchase, hold or sell real estate. (E) 43-0.

LB611 (Luedtke) — Authorizing industrial loan and investment companies to issue and sell their capital notes or debentures. (E) 43-0.

LB711 (Swanson) — Extending from 10 days to 15 days the period allowed for obtaining title and registration after a motor vehicle is purchased. 44-0.

LB923 (Bloom, Mahoney, Skarda, Syas) — Authorizing credit unions to establish a minimum charge of $2 on small loans. 44-0.

LB1109 (For The Governor, By Public Works Committee) — Changing expiration dates for licenses of resident insurance agents and brokers. (E) 43-0.

Junior College Aid Increase Advanced

By Associated Press

With a minimum of evident opposition, the Legislature Wednesday gave first round approval to a bill increasing state aid to junior colleges by one-third.

Specifically, Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB1280 raises from $7.50 to $10 per resident student credit hour the amount to be paid to the junior colleges located in Norfolk, North Platte, Fairbury, McCook and Scottsbluff.

The bill also requires junior colleges to provide courses of such quality that the credits for which state aid is received would be accepted by the University of Nebraska or the four state colleges.

There was no opposing debate and Sens. Rudolf Kokes of Ord, William Wylie of Elgin and Clifton Batchelder of Omaha cast the only "nays" on a 20-3 vote.

Carpenter estimated the bill will cost the state another $125,000 each semester. State aid to junior colleges is distributed semi-annually.

For each Nebraska resident taking 15 credit hours each semester, a junior college now receives $225 per year. Carpenter's bill ups the aid to $300 a year.

The Scottsbluff lawmaker's measure was one of 13 bills advanced from general file. Non-controversial bills were chosen purposely for consideration in order to keep bills flowing and provide material on which enrollment and review attorneys may work.

The only other bill which drew dissenting votes was Seward Sen. Wayne Schreurs' LB834, authorizing the state fire marshal to declare a ban on open fires when conditions warrant. The approving vote was 18-7.

Other bills given first round approval, with vote:

LB835 — Prescribing penalty for persons interfering with firemen carrying out their duties. 29-0.

LB809 — Providing that Nebraska license plates will be scarlet and white. 32-0.

LB1010 — Making uniform and clarifying certain provisions of motor fuel tax laws. 25-0.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Now that the grass is beginning to grow again it is time for some reminders about power mowers. Power lawn mowers are a boon to the home gardener, saving many sore muscles and aching backs. But, handled carelessly, they are potentially dangerous machines.

The mower blade generates enough force to slash toes, shear fingers and throw stones and small bits of metal with the speed of a rifle bullet.

Be careful in starting the mower, keep away from the blade and make certain it is not in gear. Learn to handle the controls so you can stop quickly. Always stop the engine when you leave the mower unattended, even for a brief interval.

Keep children and pets out of the yard while the power mower is in use. Run the mower at its lowest effective speed, and if it is electrically powered, don't use it when the grass is wet. Always stop the engine when refueling gasoline powered mowers.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all-but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price . . . but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?
A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?
A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?
A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?
A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?
A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?
A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?
A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?
A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?
A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?
A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?
A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick!). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?
A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?
A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?
A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?
A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's . . . the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department N-50 Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the car. Price does not include: white sidewall tires, $32.00; dealer preparation charge, if any; transportation charges, state and local taxes.

State Farmers Critical Of 'Inadequate Warning'

Nebraska farmers claimed Wednesday that public power districts give inadequate warning before beginning negotiations for land easements.

They offered unanimous support during a Public Works Committee hearing on Oakland Sen. C. W. Holmquist's LB581, requiring power districts to give public notice of proposed transmission line routes before beginning negotiations with landowners.

The committee held the bill for a later decision.

Farmers Stunned

Former State Sen. Hans Jensen of Aurora testified Hamilton County farmers were stunned when they suddenly learned a power district was to build a line across their land and were immediately asked to sign easements.

Placing power poles in fields hinders irrigation operations and crop spraying, Jensen said.

"The farmers in Hamilton County have had to make a tremendous sacrifice," he said. "With adequate notice, they could have negotiated."

A public power district representative appeared at Exeter farmer Arden Johnson's home one noon, Johnson said, and explained the route of a new line crossing about a mile of his land.

"I was speechless for about three minutes," he said, "and they asked me to sign an easement right away."

Sen. Holmquist said the lack of sufficient warning brings about a situation where some farmers are receiving one-fourth of what a neighbor gets for his easement. "Somebody should protect them," he said.

Ralph Shaw of the Omaha Public Power District testified landowners have knowledge of proposed power lines six months to a year, in some cases, before condemnation is initiated.

Others Agreed

Other districts concurred with Shaw's testimony.

The committee also deferred action on all other bills receiving public hearing Wednesday but cleared the deck of another batch of bills.

Among the bills held was Holmquist's LB466, establishing a penalty for power districts which don't comply with the 1967 legislative act requiring power districts to spread representation of their boards of directors to include all areas served by the district.

LOF To Build Plant

Toledo (UPI) — Libbey-Owens-Ford Co. will build a $20.6 million float glass production unit at its Rossford, Ohio, plant.

Three Snow Aid Grants Approved

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann reported Wednesday that three more applications have been approved for funds from the Legislature's $1 million appropriation for snow removal aid.

The $627 grant to Geneva supplements a previous grant of $4,065.

Other grants: Gresham $237; and Osmond $809.

One-tenth of an ounce of uranium generated the first atomic bomb explosion.

Religious Groups Disagree On Tuition Grant Amendment

A proposed constitutional amendment to permit tuition grants for students enrolled in non-public schools was supported and opposed by different religious faiths Wednesday before the Legislature's Education Committee.

Sen. Terry Carpenter, cosponsor of LB1083, urged the committee to give Nebraska voters the opportunity "to decide this issue."

"Personally, I don't think the people will make the constitutional change," said the Scottsbluff lawmaker. "But the parochial schools should have one more chance on the ballot."

Preserves Freedom

Father Paul Button, representing the Roman Catholic schools in Nebraska, said that "diversity in education preserves freedom," but "financial pressure is forcing children into one educational mold (public schools)."

Rev. Walter R. Barth of Omaha, representing the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, said, "The state has a duty to provide education for all children without infringing upon the separation of church and state."

Opposition

Opposition to the constitutional proposal came from repreentatives of the Lutheran Church of America, Seventh-Day Adventists, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith and the Nebraska Civil Liberties Union.

Spokesmen said the amendment "is designed to circumvent the historic principle of separation of church and state."

Dr. Harry Riley, representing Seventh-Day Adventist schools, said his church's educational institutions "have never accepted one cent of federal or state aid for education."

'First Step'

"This bill should be viewed as the first step toward an ultimate goal of complete public support of sectarian and private schools," he said.

The committee adjourned without taking action on the bill, and Chairman Lester Harsh of McCook indicated a decision probably would come next week.

Alternative To Censure Of Ed Board Is Offered

Lynch contended a minority has gained control of the education board through a "coalition for power political play," and education has suffered as a result.

He said Dr. Miller is "not willing to compromise on principle or play the game of power politics."

The bill of particulars against Dr. Miller in Mrs. Shepherd's statement included a complaint that Dr. William Schroeder, presently coordinator of field services on Dr. Miller's staff, received pay increases without board approval, was shifted between federal and state payrolls, was made a project director for the Great Plains School District Organization Project, and subjected to various changes in status and pay without the state board even being advised.

Mrs. Shepherd noted that the constitution provides that the State Board of Education shall appoint all employes of the State Department of Education. In the case of Dr. Schroeder, "there can be little question that the commissioner of education has usurped state board authority and statutory responsibility for the appointment of professional personnel and the fixing of salaries," she said.

'Irregularities'

"It would also seem that this is an example of serious irregularities and inter-departmental shifting of personnel from state paid salaries to federally paid salaries and back again without the State Board of Education being apprised of the changes. An interesting question to which we do not have the answer is, what became of the nearly $10,000 in state funds appropriated to pay Dr. Schroeder's salary while he drew a federally paid salary?"

Mrs. Shepherd also alleged that Dr. Miller in 1966 recommended Nebraska participation in what eventually became identified as the Great Plains Project with a statement that "this project will be completely supported out of Title V (federal) money." But records show Nebraska contributed severeal thousand dollars, she alleged.

"It appears that funds appropriated by the Legislature for other programs and services were used to support and subsidize the state's responsibility and the cost of the Great Plains Project."

April 6, my husband and I and our two boys went to Omaha for a movie. We had not taken our seats for 40 minutes when root beer was spilled all over us. The man who takes tickets said this happens all the time and police need to be in the theatre. We would like a refund for tickets and cleaning. Can you help?—Mrs. E.J., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Send financial details to the theatre manager at the following address: Don Shane, 409 South 16th St., Omaha, Nebraska. A refund on expenses will be sent to you courtesy of the theatre with apologies.

Something should be done to correct the highly dangerous situation at 13th and K Sts. where each day cars drive half a block against one-way traffic to enter the parking lot at Trixes IGA. There are signs and markers informing the driver not to do this, but they still do it. —W.H., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The Lincoln Police Dept. says no complaints have come in on the area. Police officers are constantly on the look-out for such violations as you describe and would certainly discuss the matter with the motorist driving the wrong way on a one-way street. That area will be observed more closely from now on to curb possible traffic law violators.

Six years ago, we ordered a jet plumber set which needs new cartridges every so often. The letter ordering such cartridges was returned April 1 with no forwarding address in California. Help. —Mrs. J. Snider, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Plunging into the matter, it was found the Post Office Dept. apparently goofed because the mail should have been forwarded to Universial Jet Inc., 3817 Adams Avenue, San Diego, Calif. 92116. Try again at the new address.

Proposed Tax Exemption Change Draws Heavy Opposition

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Religious, educational, charitable and non-profit service organizations Wednesday united in solid opposition to a proposed constitutional amendment which, in effect, would wipe out their tax-exempt status.

The proposal is contained in LB171, authored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter further amended his bill at a hearing before the legislature's Revenue Committee to propose a constitutional directive requiring the taxation of public power districts.

LB171 was held, along with three other proposed constitutional amendments, for later committee action.

Up To Unicam

Carpenter said his proposal would leave it to the Legislature to decide what property, if any, should be exempt from taxation.

But opponents of the bill argued that the measure would eliminate the constitution's permissive authorization for tax exemption, and thus automatically bring the properties under taxation in whatever classification the Legislature might establish.

The constitution now permits the Legislature to exempt such property.

Wipe Out Provisions

Carpenter's proposal would also wipe out the special constitutional provisions relating to taxation of motor vehicles and livestock, and the permissive authority to exempt property owned by agricultural and horticultural societies, and cemetery properties.

But the senator told the committee the bill is designed only to eliminate exemptions from the constitution (with few exceptions), and permit the Legislature to determine anew what should be exempted in the interests of tax equity.

For instance, he said, lawmakers might decide to classify church property in such a manner that it would be taxed at a minimal rate, perhaps equal to 10% of the normal tax rate.

Assurances

Sens. J. James Waldron of Callaway and William Skarda of Omaha, two committee members, assured opposing witnesses that the Legislature would not tax private colleges or churches.

But three attorneys, representing diverse interests, told the lawmakers the proposed constitutional amendment would require the Legislature to tax them under some new classification.

Opposition testimony was presented by the Nebraska Association of Church Colleges, Masonic interests, church and hospital representatives, the Salvation Army, the Nebraska Bankers Association, Ak-Sar-Ben, and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers.

Also Opposed

Also heard, with opposing testimony from Ak-Sar-Ben and the fair managers, was LB1069, a Carpenter proposal to tax properties of agricultural societies used for financial gain or profit.

Sen. Willard Waldo's LB290, proposing another popular vote on an amendment to permit the Legislature to classify and exempt all personal property, was supported by agricultural interests, implement dealers, new car dealers and lumber dealers.

A similar proposal was turned down by the voters last November.

Major Items

Personal property includes such major items as business inventories, livestock and motor vehicles.

The Nebraska Homebuilders Association, opposed the bill.

"It would deprive county government of needed revenue," Kearney County Assessor Carroll Weedlun warned.

Also held for later action was LB1018, Sen. Jerome Warner's proposal to provide that farmland be valued for taxation only on factors relative to agricultural use.

Fourth Planet-Like Body Outside Solar System Deduced

© New York Times Service

New York — The existence of another planet-like body outside our Solar System has been deduced from observations made at the Sproul Observatory at Swarthmore College.

The existence of this object, said to be the fourth such planet-like body to be found outside our Solar System, was deduced from 30 years of telescopic observations of Barnard's Star, a star six light years from the earth.

Its discovery was described by Dr. Peter Van De Kamp, director of the Observatory, in a lecture at Duke University.

The newly discovered object and another one whose discovery Dr. Van De Kamp announced in 1963 both revolve about Barnard's Star and have been named B1 and B2. Neither planet can be seen, even through Sproul's powerful telescope. Rather, their existence and characteristics were deduced from irregularities observed in the path of Barnard's Star.

B1 and B2 have been calculated to have masses of 1.1 and 0.8 times, respectively, the mass of Jupiter, the largest planet in our Solar System.

Originally, Dr. Van De Kamp thought that Barnard's Star had only one planetary companion, which revolved about the star in a long elliptical orbit that took 24 years to complete.

However, further observations led the astronomer to conclude that Barnard's Star has two such companions, B1 and B2, both of which revolve in circular orbits lastings 26 and 12 years, respectively.

Arab Guerrillas Nix Hussein Plan

Amman, Jordan (AP) — The Arab guerrilla movements announced outright rejection of King Hussein's six-point plan for peace in the Middle East.

The announcement came after a secret meeting among the leaders of five major Palestinian resistance organizations.

The development almost certainly will lead to a further deterioration in already tense relations between the guerrillas and Jordanian authorities.

Omaha (UPI) — Dr. Robert Corliss, a faculty member of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, has been elected president of the Douglas-Sarpy County Heart Association. He succeeds Dr. Francis Fitzmaurice.

Democrats Favor Ending Freeze In ADC Program

Washington (AP) — The House Democratic caucus went on record Wednesday favoring elimination of a freeze on the number of children assisted by the aid to dependent children program.

The Nixon administration has already said it will ask Congress to repeal the limit, which is now suspended but will go back into effect July 1 unless Congress acts.

The freeze established a ratio in each state of children aided to the total number of children in the state.

12 Colleges In State Get $190,000 ETV Grant

A $190,000 grant has been awarded to a consortium of 12 Nebraska colleges, all members of the Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education, Inc.

The grant, for the 1969-70 academic year, was made under Title III (developing institutions section) of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

According to NETCHE executive director Lee Rockwell, the grant will provide for continued developmental activities of the non-profit educational compact, including production of new courses for member schools and new supplemental instruction.

"The specific program will have to be approved by the board of directors during the next few weeks," Rockwell said.

The new grant marks the third consecutive year of federal support for NETCHE. The organization received a $250,000 grant for the 1968-69 academic year, and a $145,000 grant in 1967-68.

Schools included in the consortium are: Chadron State College, Dana College, Doane College, Hastings College, Kearney State College, Midland Lutheran College, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Peru State College, College of St. Mary, Union College, Wayne State College and York College.

Doane College is named in the grant as coordinating institution with the University of Nebraska as cooperating institution.

NU Coed Is Bride

Bouquets of spring blossoms appointed the candlelighted altar of St. Thomas Aquinas Church on Saturday afternoon, April 5, for the wedding of Miss Mary Jo Godown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Godown of Bellevue, and Don Bailey, son of Dr. and Mrs. George W. Bailey of Cheyenne, Wyo., formerly of Bellevue. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Raymond Hain.

Daytime-length frocks of floral-printed linen in tones of yellow, aqua and lime green were chosen for Miss Deborah Cushman of Renton, Wash., the honor attendant, and the bridesmaids, Miss Dianne Bailey of Cheyenne, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Betty Lou Godown, the bride's sister; and Miss Ann Mussleman, Omaha.

Serving Mr. Bailey as best man was James Frederick, and the groomsmen and ushers included Mr. Bailey's brother, Neil Bailey, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Sim Gurewitz, Clifton, N.J.; Jean Peterson, Ontario, N.Y.; Ted Spring, Bellevue; and Don Merlo, Oshkosh.

Fashioned of white silk organza, the bride's gown was designed in the Victorian mode. Vertical rows of Venise and Val lace patterned the high-collared basque, which was completed by elbow sleeves, and the slender skirt continued into an aisle-wide cotillion train. A triple coiffure bow of white satin held her train-length illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will make their home in Lincoln, where both are students at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and Mr. Bailey, who is majoring in botany, is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta honorary.

town talk

If the Chamber of Commerce, the City-County Planning Commission and all of those talented architects in town would put their heads together they might come up with something big — Arizona sunshine, for instance — or some Arizona sand — or maybe a backdrop that could resemble Camelback Mountain — or some residential areas that have their own private golf courses and this and that. IF the Chamber of Commerce, the City-County Planning Commission and the architects could accomplish all of these things, Nebraskans might stay in Nebraska — and not devote their winters to Arizona.

The latest Arizona convert is Mrs. O. V. Calhoun. Mrs. Calhoun, however, really isn't deserting Nebraska — or Lincoln, but she does have a home under construction in Scottsdale. We hear that this spacious, new three-bedroom dwelling is located in one of Scottsdale's exclusive areas — Scottsdale House Club Estates. The residents have their own Country Club and all of the fringe benefits a country club has to offer.

Mrs. Calhoun tells us that she is only to be a winter resident of Arizona, and that she will maintain an apartment at Sky Park Manor in Lincoln the year around.

* * *

And speaking of winter residents in Scottsdale — Someone told us that Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Baldwin would be home almost any moment.

* * *

Oddly enough all of the activity doesn't take place in Arizona — We have quite a supply right here at home—

There is a "Swing Into Spring" party on Friday evening at Hotel Lincoln, for example — and a week from Saturday, April 26, the feminine golfers at the Lincoln Country Club will be as busy as the proverbial bee.

But about the "Swing Into Spring" affair — It's a dinner dance for members of the Mr. and Mrs. Dancing Club, and the party planners include Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Sorensen, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brockemeier, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Osborn.

* * *

The LCC lady golfers are laying down their golf clubs and will don spring fashions when they serve as models at the luncheon and fashion show which they are sponsoring on April 26 — at the Lincoln Country Club, of course.

Club Tour

The annual spring "tour day" of the North Bluffs Extension Club was held Tuesday when the group made a tour of various businesses in Lincoln, including the Hotel Cornhusker and the Lincoln newspapers.

PEO Chapter

The meeting of Chapter GD, PEO, will be held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ted L. Simonson, 1551 So. 21st. The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

NFWC Hears Speakers

Junior Women's Club members throughout the state and their many contributions to their communities were recognized at the Wednesday noon luncheon of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, which is in convention at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Mrs. Jack Hawley of Fremont, state director of junior clubs, presided at the luncheon at which Mrs. Norbert Tiemann was honored as Outstanding Club Woman.

An address, "I Am The Individual in Involvement", was presented by Mrs. Earle A. Brown of Wilkinsburg, Pa., first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Earlier on Wednesday, Mrs. Fred Duerr of Seward, state communications chairman, introduced Mrs. Rosemarie Markgraf, a representative of the Motion Picture Association of America, who spoke on, "The Movie Experience, A Matter of Choice."

A convention highlight Wednesday evening was an address, "Report From the Banks of the Potomac," by Senator Carl Curtis.

The convention will conclude with the annual awards luncheon, Thursday noon, following a program on the federation's newest project, the establishment of a food center for children of Colombia, South America, through the CARE program.

From the left are Mrs. Earle A. Brown of Wilkinsburg, Pa., Mrs. Norbert Tiemann, Mrs. George Falter of Creighton, District 3 president; Mrs. Rosemarie Markgraf of the Motion Picture Association, Mrs. Jack Hawley of Fremont, Mrs. Fred Duerr of Seward, and Mrs. L. B. Myers of York, state federation president, pictured preceding the Wednesday noon convention luncheon of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs.

This And That In Suburbia

In our "this 'n' that around Lincoln" department this morning we have a bit of good news — about guests and trips; and a bit that is not so pleasant — one suburban neighborhood will be saying goodbye to some residents who plan to move away from the city in the very near future.

Beginning with last-mentioned things first, those soon-to-depart residents are Mr. and Mrs. John Carson and sons, Paul and Johnny of Patrician Heights. We understand that the Carson family will be moving to a new home in Washington, D.C., around the first of June.

The weekend before last the two younger members of the Carson family were guests of honor at a farewell get-together attended by a group of neighborhood youngsters. Hostesses for the party, which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Baker, were Mr. and Mrs. Bakers' daughter, Debbie, and Miss Julie Angus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Angus.

We'll catch up on some of the Easter news, by telling about a short trip which took Bethany Park Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Roelle and family away from Lincoln during the Easter weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Roelle and children, Cynthia and Curtis, motored to Litchfield where they had a two-day visit with Mrs. Roelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rainforth; and Mr. Roelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roelle.

Traveling also was on the agenda very recently for Southwood resident Mrs. Harold D. Warner. Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Delores Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jansing motored to Kansas City, Mo., where they attended a four-day seminar. They returned to Lincoln last Sunday.

Busy keeping the entertainment calendar filled have been Prairie Valley residents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roth. Mr. and Mrs. Roth assumed the roles of host and hostess on Easter Sunday when they entertained nine out-of-town guests at a holiday dinner in their home.

Arriving in Lincoln to take part in the festive get-together were Mrs. Roth's mother, Mrs. Marie Panek, and Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Whyte, and Mrs. Leone Owens, all of Madison; Dr. And Mrs. Robert Owens and daughter, Carmon of Ponca City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gross of Norfolk. Incidentally, we understand that Mr. and Mrs. Gross arrived in time to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Roth.

Currently proving our thesis that Lincoln residents are among the best-traveled people anywhere and at any time (not just during tbe holidays!) are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stroh of Hollingsworth Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Stroh are enjoying a 10-day combined business and pleasure trip which began last Friday. For the business portion of the excursion Mr. and Mrs. Stroh drove to Chicago and the pleasure angle includes visiting. During their trip Mr. and Mrs. Stroh will be calling on Mrs. Stroh's mother, Mrs. Ed Ferlemann, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Baker and family all of Shelbyville, Ind.

State Day Scheduled

The annual State Day of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will be held in Lincoln, Saturday, April 26, and will feature a talk by Mrs. Thomas Gwin of Los Angeles, national vice president of the sorority.

The day's program will open with a 9:30 o'clock coffee at the chapter house. The 12:30 o'clock luncheon, to be held at the Lincoln University Club, also will feature as a special guest Mrs. Jack Davis of Iowa City, Iowa, District XI president.

In charge of arrangements for the day are Mrs. Philip Henderson, Lincoln Alumnae president; Mrs. Paul D. Kern, State Day chairman; Mrs. Louise Brown, coffee chairman; and Miss Gloria Glassen, luncheon chairman.

Marriage

Miss Sherri Renee Stark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Stark, became the bride of Lt. Jeffrey Hugh Farkas, U.S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Farkas, at an afternoon service on Saturday, March 8. The 1 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Edwin L. Stander at St. John's Catholic Church.

Frocked in avocado green silk chiffon were Miss Janet Kelley of Hastings, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Kay Lindsay, Omaha, and Miss Judy Cobb.

Phillip Samuels served Lt. Farkas as best man, and the ushers were Kenneth R. Stark, brother of the bride, Wally Plasky and Jim Arundel.

Jeweled Alencon lace trimmed the bride's slim gown of ivory peau de soie. The lace encircled the Empire waist of the basque, and the gown was completed by a shirred panel train extending to cotillion length. She carried a cascade of avocado green orchids centered with a single large white orchid.

Lt. and Mrs. Farkas will reside in Indianapolis, Ind., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

April Ceremony

For the wedding of Miss Carla Joan Grunczewski of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grunczewski of Greeley, Colo., and Samuel Acacio Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arsenio Lewis, which took place Saturday, April 12, bouquets of white Majestic daisies and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the chancel of Trinity Lutheran Church in Greeley. The Rev. Lyle Mueller read the lines of the 8 o'clock service.

Mrs. Barry C. Bedinger of Greeley, attended her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Cindie Loss and Miss Kirlene Scott, Greeley, and Miss Monica Lewis, sister of the bridegroom. Their floor-length frocks of ribbed cotton in the lemon yellow shade were trimmed with lace, and they carried colonial nosegays of white daisies.

Serving Mr. Lewis as best man was Charles Jolitz of St. Marys, Ohio, and seating the guests were Robert Scott and Robert Porter, Greeley. The groomsmen were Dick Andersen, Gary Blum and Douglas Larsen, Lincoln.

The bride appeared in a sheath gown of silk linen in the candlelight tone. Venise lace edged the elbow sleeves of the sculptured bodice, which was designed with a crescent neckline, and the lace bordered the panel court train of linen. Her tiered, train-length veil of illusion was held by a Renaissance cap of lace, and she carried a rounded bouquet of white daisies and gypsophila.

Mrs. Lewis will receive her degree this spring from the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi. A former student at the university, the bridegroom is serving with the Navy, and is stationed at Memphis, Tenn.

Evening Wedding

For the marriage of Miss Jean Schoenbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Schoenbeck of Western, to Joseph Jack Sobotka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sobotka of Tobias, on Saturday evening, April 5, bouquets of yellow daisies appointed the altar of Zion Lutheran Church in Tobias. The 7 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. E. H. Prange.

Wearing slender, floor-length frocks of Irish linen in lime green and carrying basket bouquets of yellow daisies were Mrs. Jim Stewart of Western, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Endorf of Tobias, Miss Diane Bartels and Miss Judy Bartels, Lincoln.

Serving as best man was Robert Endorf, and the groomsmen were Jim Stewart, Western, Dave Bartels of Tobias, and Dave Stejskal, Wilber. Dale Larkins of Western, and Marvin Stejskal, Friend, seated the guests.

White Alencon-type lace over satin fashioned the bride's gown. Designed in the skimmer silhouette with a crescent neckline and long sleeves, the slim gown was completed by a cotillion train of the lace. A tiara of jeweled lace petals held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of Easter lilies and valley-lilies.

Mr. Sobotka, a student at the University of Nebraska, and his bride will make their home in Lincoln at 2348 O.

Opening lead — ace of spades.

It is easy enough to make three hearts if you see all four hands. After East-West cash two spades and two clubs and lead another club, you ruff, draw three rounds of trumps, play a diamond to the ace, catching East's king, and claim the rest.

But in real life, it's not that easy. You don't see the adverse cards and, consequently, when you get around to leading diamonds, you may take a finesse and go down one.

Actually, that's what happened when the hand was played in the Olympiad ladies world championship back in 1964. However, as was pointed out at the time with considerable justification, South should have made the contract.

West led the ace and another spade, and East shifted to a low club. West cashing the A-Q before playing another club. Declarer later took the diamond finesse, lost to the singleton king, and finished minus 100.

It is certainly easier to pick a winner after the race is run, but in the present case there is ample reason to reject the diamond finesse and go up with the ace in the hope of catching the king.

Early in the play West shows up with the ace of spades and A-Q of clubs, and an alert declarer should conclude that West cannot also have the king of diamonds, since he passed originally.

On this basis, therefore, it must be wrong to take a finesse that is marked to lose, and declarer should go up with the ace because this offers some chance of making the contract, while the finesse offers none.

However, I remember wondering at the time how many of the very knowledgeable writers and experts who witnessed this hand would have had the presence of mind to catch the king, had they been actually playing instead of just kibitzing.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: First, you made some reference to the "wives" of the famous Wright brothers, the inventors of the first airplane. Then a man who signed himself "JACK H.' wrote in and said you "goofed" because the Wright brothers were both bachelors.

Then some lady from Olympia, Wash., wrote and said you did NOT goof —Jack H. goofed because her grandmother's sister was married to Wilbur Wright.

To set the record straight: My father was Reuchlin Wright. He was the older Wright brother. Wilbur died in 1912 and Orville died in 1948.

Orville Wright ("Uncle Orv." we called him) named my husband as one of the executors of his estate. I am sure there have been several Wilbur Wrights, and I do not doubt that the lady's grandmother's sister WAS married to a Wilbur Wright, but he wasn't the co-inventor of the airplane.

Sincerely yours,
ELLWYN WRIGHT STEEUER

Rita's Mailbox

This week Leota Eno tells us about her hobby which is painting with liquid embroidery paints. I have tried this art but am far from an artist in this medium. As with most things it takes practice and patience to do really good work. But let's let Leola tell you about her hobby. She is also an instructor in this hobby and tells me that the instruction is free. For her name and address send a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your request to this column.

Dear Rita: I saw in our paper your article on hobbies, on which I am getting to be a regular "nut." I have found, in my 53 years of life, one really needs to have a hobby. I knit, crochet, sew and do liquid embroidery work.

I have been an instructor for two years but have worked with the liquid embroidery for eighteen years. I have done regular embroidery work for years and find this liquid outlasts thread many many more years. The tube of paint equals 1,500 skeins of embroidery floss, never washes out, in fact you cannot bleach it out. When your work becomes old you can go over it and make it look like new again and there are no worn threads like you have with regular emboidery.

The liquid embroidery paints come in 68 vivid colors, of which 6 are the Go-Glo fluorescent colors. These are really Mod colors for sports attire, jeans, shorts, sweat shirts and sneakers. The Combos are using them also for their special attires and for extra effects. The Go-Glo items will glow beautifully under a black light. There are also Spark-L-On colors which have glitter in them.

Embroidery paints may also be used on fabrics, glass, metal, wood plastics, leather, paper, china and pottery. In fact the possibilities are quite unlimited. We use it to make laundry, children's rain gear, lunch boxes, garden tools, sporting equipment—anything you wish to make for permanent identification.

Organizations are using it as therapy and recreation centers are using it for classes, as well as many clubs, which are using it at their meetings to get projects started for fund raising programs within their own organizations.

Decorating with liquid paints is an exciting hobby that can be shared by the entire family. Children will be happily occupied for hours painting pre-stamped designs or expressing their creativity on a variety of materials. Many husbands find that ball point tube painting is an ideal way to relax after a hard day's work and retired people love it. They can resell their works of art and supplement their income.

Enjoy your articles very much. Sincerely, Leota Eno, Lincoln.

Send your hints and ideas to Rita in care of The Lincoln Star. Send your real name but if you would rather we didn't use it send a pen name also.

Questions And Answers

Q. For some reason I have hair growing on my upper lip this winter. One woman I know said she uses cosmetic wax. I wonder what kind of cosmetic wax to use and will it remove the hair permanently?

A. Cosmetic wax does not remove the hair permanently. Electrolysis is the only method of permanent removal. You can banish the lip hair with a depilatory, which melts it off. This is also a temporary measure. If you use a depilatory, be sure that it is one planned for use on the face and follow directions carefully.

Bonds Urged For Street Improvements

The City Planning Commission Wednesday recommended to the City Council that bond issues be used to finance major street improvements, including the proposed northeast radial and Holdrege Street bypass.

Planners urged issuance of either general revenue or general obligation bonds totaling not less than $20 million to finance capital improvements included in the 1969-75 program.

"This would free public works money for other street improvements," said Commissioner Adam Breckenridge, who introduced the motion.

After the meeting Breckenridge said he would personally favor holding a special election, if necessary, to seek approval of such a bond issue.

The planners' recommendation came after they approved Planning Director Douglas Brogden's report on the six-year capital impovement program.

Brogden told the commissioners that $25,000 a year had been added to the Parks and Recreation Dept. program with funds to be used for land acquisition for neighborhood parks.

Funding the program had been one of the recommendations in Brogden's report.

The commission also approved a Brogden suggestion that the planners include funds in the park program for financing preparation of a master plan for Lagoon Park, site of the city sanitary landfill.

The Parks and Recreation Dept. had not programmed funds for the project until after 1975.

On another subject, Brogden said he does not oppose widening of South St. from 62nd to 70th to conform to the width of the street west of 62nd.

He had earlier indicated that the proposal wouldn't conform to the comprehensive plan for community development.

The commission also okayed a recommendation for including money for paving a parking lot at Lincoln General Hospital.

Proposed Wildlife Building Compatible With City Plans

The City Planning Commission Wednesday said construction of a wildlife research building near 33rd and Leighton would be compatible with the comprehensive plan for community development.

The research building would be part of a proposed State Game Commission complex. The plan proposes building a two-story research building and the commission's office building, which would house about 150 commission employes.

The engineering division of the Game Commission had requested a planning commission opinion on the proposed complex.

In other action, the planning unit decided against consideration on April 22 of an ordinance to increase the maximum height of buildings in E Multiple Dwelling zoning areas.

The ordinance would increase the maximum from 90 to 130 feet.

The City Council Monday asked the planners to waive commission rules and consider the issue at the next meeting. The council has already given the ordinance two readings, but the planning unit's decision will force the council to postpone final reading until the latter part of May — after the commission makes its recommendation.

The council has scheduled final consideration for next Monday on a measure which would change zoning from D to E Multiple at 52nd and R N. E. Copple has plans to build a high-rise apartment complex there.

The planning commission also heard a request from Dean Kobler, who asked a special permit to develop a trailer court in the vicinity of Cornhusker Hwy. and 1st.

The commissioner also took the following action:

Public Hearings

—Heard no one speak on a request by Mrs. Bertha McKoene for a change of zone from H-2 Highway Commercial to K Light Industry on property immediately east of Lewis Oil Co. at Yolande & Cornhusker.

—Heard several area residents complain about a request from the planning director to change the zone on property at 48th and Woodland Terrace from K Light Industry to A-2 Commercial.

—Heard request by Kaceda Enterprises to change the zone on property located on the east side of 46th St. south of Dudley St. from A-2 Single Family to E Multiple Dwelling to permit an apartment building. Planning director recommended denial and a letter signed by 22 area persons was introduced in opposition.

—Heard representatives for Trend Homes of Nebr. Inc. speak on a change of zone request from A-1 Single Family to B-2 Family Dwelling on property located on Van Dorn St., east of 70th St. Planning director recommended denial.

—Considered amendment relating to open space between buildings.

—Considered amendment relating to minor changes in special use permits.

—Approved vacation of a portion of roadway adjacent to Wedgewood and O Sts.

—Approved sale of city property located in the vicinity of 61st and 62nd Sts. and Normal Blvd.

—Approved sale of city property located in vicinity of Leighton, Fair and 33rd Sts.

—Deferred action on Portsche Heights Replat at So. 75th St. and Highway 2.

—Approved preliminary and final plat for Capitol Beach Manor, 4th Addition at Lakeshore Drive.

—Approved Pidcocks Replat, 56th and L Sts.

—Approved special permit for Richard Vestecka and others to develop a revised community unit plan in vicinity of 70th and Van Dorn Sts. Planning director recommended denial.

—Approved amendment to subdivision regulations.

—Deferred action on amendment to airport zoning ordinance.

ETV Commission Acts To Fill Coverage Gaps

The Nebraska Educational Television Commission Wednesday took steps to fill several coverage gap areas remaining around the state after completion of the statewide ETV network.

In a meeting at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, the commissioners approved various steps for activating five translators—small, low-power transmitters which serve only a limited area.

The translators will be located at Beatrice, Falls City, Chadron, Benkleman and in the Pawnee City-Humboldt area.

Several Weeks

However, it is likely to be several weeks before any of them are ready to go on the air because of federal government approvals which must be sought.

The commission has filed a request for a Federal Communications Commission construction permit for only one of the five, the Beatrice installation, and that has not yet been granted.

The commission also gave its approval to the idea of a committee to "plan the best way to finance and structure the service of instructional television for elementary and secondary education in Nebraska."

Appointment of such a committee was requested by the Nebraska Council for Educational Television (NCET) in a letter presented to the commission.

The letter recommended a committee composed of three representatives of the NCET, three representatives of the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA), one representative from the State Department of Education and a member of the ETV Commission.

The commission staff was directed to work with both NCET and MOEBA and recommend to the commission names of individuals to serve on such a committee and a tentative scope of work for the group.

Data Being Sent So Hospital Can Schedule Girl's Operation

Current X rays and personal data on Janice Burton are being sent to the University of Minnesota Hospital so that staff members will be able to schedule corrective surgery for the 19-year-old Lincoln girl.

The announcement came Wednesday from an official of the State Department of Public Welfare.

The official said that the state has written to the hospital assuring them that the money is available for post-operative care expenses. At least $18,000 had to be available before surgery could be scheduled.

Dr. John H. Moe, chairman of the orthopedic division of the hospital and the surgeon who will perform the spinal operation, will schedule surgery as soon as possible.

The fund for Miss Burton totaled $10,978 Wednesday; $12,000 in matching funds will come from the federal government.

Included in gifts to the fund Wednesday were $33.50 from the St. Mary's Altar Society at Denton, which the members got from the sale of a quilt they made, and $10 from an anonymous donor who came into the Women in Community Service (WICS) office.

He said that at age 10 he had been unable to walk and had received help so that he was able to walk today. He said that he wanted to help someone as he was helped.

Equal Job Rights Unit Eyes Pact Compliance

By The Associated Press

The Nebraska Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Wednesday ordered its staff to investigate the progress and effectiveness of a federally funded contract compliance project which is underway in the state.

Under the program, one of 41 across the country, possible employment discrimination practices within companies holding federal contracts is investigated.

"We have been meeting our obligations," Commission Chairman R. D. Andersen of Lincoln said, "but the big question is what has been accomplished."

More Important

Andersen said in his opinion investigations into contractors with state government would be more important.

Some $8,000 of a $14,000 grant already has been expended on the program.

Andersen suggested that the remaining funds might be used more effectively if an investigation shows other uses are warranted.

Also suggested at the commission's Wednesday meeting was setting guidelines for equal opportunity employment among the state's employment agencies, businesses and unions.

Not Issued

Although the commission is authorized by law to provide such guidelines, Andersen noted "they have never been issued in this specific area."

"And I think the unions and businesses in this state want this direction from the commission," he said.

The commission's work since its inception in 1965 has been largely concerned with responding to discrimination complaints with some recent emphasis on education, Andersen said.

18 Cases

Executive Director Reid Devoe told the commission that 18 cases of alleged employment discrimination have been reported so far this year.

The number brings to 133 the total of cases brought to the commission's attention since 1965. Three are awaiting the commission's ruling, 10 have been conciliated, 19 are under investigation and 101 have been closed.

Twenty-four of the total complaints have come from the food industry field and 19 from the area of city, county and state government.

Kappa Delta Pi Head To Address Convention Here

Dr. W. A. Stumpf, national president of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary, will be the featured speaker at an all-day district convention of the group here Saturday.

Some 60 student members and one alumni chapter are expected to attend the sessions at the Nebraska Wesleyan University Fine Arts Building.

State Parent-Teacher Association Supports Dr. Miller

McCook (AP) — The Nebraska State Parent - Teacher Association went on record at its state convention Wednesday in support of State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller.

In a resolution the PTA urged the State Board of Education "to remove itself from activities which tend to decrease its effectiveness in its statuterially entrusted role of providing through the commissioner and the professional staff enlightened professional leadership, guidance and supervision to the state school system."

The resolution further urged the board to "restrict itself to the performance of being a policy forming, planning and evaluative body for the state school program and to deliberate and take action with the professional advice and counsel of the commissioner of education, Dr. Floyd A. Miller."

The PTA expressed concern over the involvement of the state board in disputes "caused by special interest groups which claim to have the improvement of education as their goal."

In a statement read to the group, Dr. E. Warren Peterson, superintendent of the McCook schools, noted the role of the PTA has been consistant in support of the elective state school board with an appointed commissioner.

"This plan appeared to be a good one and worked reasonably well for a short period of time," he said.

He charged that a minority group has held control only since January and this minority has displayed before the people of Nebraska that their aims and purposes are contrary to those the Nebraska PTA as well as those of a majority of the people."

Flanigan Named White House Aide

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon Wednesday appointed New York investment banker Peter M. Flanigan as a top White House assistant on domestic matters.

Flanigan, 45, a deputy campaign manager last fall, will succeed Robert Ellsworth, who was named as ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Flanigan has been on leave from the firm of Dillon Read since February, 1968, and lately has been an unpaid aide in helping Nixon fill high jobs in his administration.

Solons To Hear Swedish Diplomat

Ambassador Hubert de Besche of Sweden will address members of the Legislature at a luncheon in Lincoln Monday.

The ambassador will be among delegates from 35 countries in Nebraska to attend the Midwest Conference on World Affairs at Kearney State College next week.

The foreign representatives will visit the Legislature Monday morning, and Gov. Norbert Tiemann will meet with them later in the day.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

If you have two children, you cannot get along with one cat. They try to divide it — one pulls on the head, the other on the tail. The Siamese cat was all worn out trying to stay in one piece.

I said: "We'll get another cat."

☆ ☆ ☆

Our animal shelter is a handsome, modern place. Desks. Files. Each cat in custody was in a small wired cage. Their rap sheets were pinned at the top.

We chose: "Manx, male. Age, 2 months. Housebroken, no. Shots, yes."

We named him Captain Bligh. (We had Fletcher Christian before. But he went away. Maybe Pitcairn Island.)

The information sheet on Captain Bligh was 100% wrong.

The other day the captain came in for dinner. It had a profile like a piggy bank.

I said: "That cat is pregnant."

I was 100% right.

☆ ☆ ☆

Spring has come. And soon so will kittens. Once Captain Bligh knew we had found out her secret, she threw off all pretense.

She began looking for the maternity ward.

I think she has chosen the back of a storage cabinet in my office. Or, as it is sometimes called, "my den." (Or sometimes, "The place we're going to build a spare bedroom when we get the money." No rest for the weary.)

She got in the cabinet and snooped around.

She chose a box filled with some outdated Pan American Airways literature. ("PanAm makes the going great!")

I said: "Start looking for people who want kittens."

The moppets said: "You're not going to give the kittens away?"

I said: "Stop sniffling. I've got plenty of problems."

☆ ☆ ☆

I did not know the animal shelter was sawing off an unwed mother on me. But hey-ho, always room for a few more kittens.

They will all be named for characters in "Mutiny on the Bounty." Our first cat was called Fletcher Christian. Not for the mutineer. But because we had a teen-age girl at the house. She was wild about Marlon Brando.

We named the cat so she could be constantly reminded of Marlon in that stirring role.

(I said to her: "I think the picture was better when Clark Gable played the part of Christian." She said, "Who is Clark Gable?" "Fetch me down the gin, girl," I said. "You've ruined my day.")

☆ ☆ ☆

Maybe we'll give all the cats Tahitian names. Tahiti is not the same anymore — we'll try to preserve some memories.

I have a letter inviting me to the opening of a new hotel in the blessed island. The photograph shows it tall and imposing.

Used to be a rule in the island — "no hotel to be taller than a coconut tree." But the commerce of the South Pacific could not stand such wise limitation. Now they are building skyscrapers.

That sly Captain Bligh. I may change her name to Jezebel. Shape up or ship out!

☆ ☆ ☆

The Siamese (who had been put in neutral) is taking it well. A maiden aunt giving advice and comfort.

Everybody is taking part in pre-natal care. The captain has been put on a rich diet. Liver and beef heart. Love and affection. Music and flowers.

I said to the captain: "Avast that caterwauling there! I'll have you keelhauled!"

"Don't be mean to the captain," cried the children.

☆ ☆ ☆

I said: "Fetch the rum, mate." I can only be pushed so far.

I said to the Brownie Leader: "Can't we unload some kittens on your Brownies?" She said: "Their mothers would be wild." I said: "This is going to be a desperate situation. Every man for himself."

And so, we sail into the sunset (with Captain Bligh at the helm).

Suicide Bungled By Bank Clerk

Lourenco Marques, Mozambique (AP) — A bank clerk in the small palm-fringed city of Inhambane who was suspended from his job went to the local mortuary and tried to commit suicide with a pistol.

As he pulled the trigger he fainted and collapsed among the corpses. The bullet hit the ceiling instead of the clerk's head and he was taken to hospital suffering from shock.

Guenzel Re-Elected By Lincoln Foundation

Robert C. Guenzel was re-elected president of the Lincoln Foundation board of directors at the annual meeting Wednesday.

Other officers elected were Harry Simon and William I. Aitken, vice presidents; Thomas R. Pansing, secretary; C. Wheaton Battey, treasurer; and Fred. N. Wells, executive director.

Elected to the executive committee, in addition to the officers, were Alfred Du Teau, Robert S. Hinds, John F. Wells and Harry Seward.

The directors meeting followed the annual meeting of the Foundation members-at-large at which seven directors were elected for three-year terms ending 1972. They are George P. Abel Jr., E. J. Faulkner, Carl W. Olson, John K. Selleck, John C. Angle, Pansing and Seward.

Guenzel informed the foundation members that the congressional hearings on the tax loopholes of charitable foundations do not apply to the Lincoln Foundation. Guenzel said that the criticism and hearings are aimed toward non-public foundations.

The president indicated that the Lincoln Foundation will have to continue funding a wide variety of programs and probably put some of its money into what he termed "risk" projects in order to keep its "public foundation" designation with the 30% ruling.

As a publicly supported charitable organization, the foundation offeres donors an extra 10% tax allowance for contributions or 30% of adjusted gross income. Contributions in excess of a 30% limit in any one year can be spread over a five-year period in which to use up contribution credits.

Guenzel emphasized that the "public does have an interest" in the foundation. Even though the distribution of foundation funds is not under the public's general control through election, the public contributes to it by paying additional taxes which made up for the foundation's tax-exempt status, he pointed out.

As a result, representatives of the state attorney general's office and the county attorney are invited to represent the interest of the public by hearing the group's reports, he said.

The Lincoln Foundation also will continue to follow its traditional policy of consulting with other public agencies about grants in particular areas, Guenzel indicated.

Executive committee members later agreed that it has always been their intent to consider applications for funds on the basis of being "within the public interest" regardless of the donor's intent.

Executive director Wells, who was commended for his full-time service to the foundation, reported that a total of $27,395 had been granted to various community projects during the past year.

Adhesive Developed

Lake Success, N.Y. (UPI) — Standard Patents & Devices, Inc., has developed a new one-part chemical adhesive that dissipates heat but blocks electrical current. It is expected to simplify production of miniaturized electronic circuits by eliminating tedious measuring and mixing of adhesive and catalyst.

Bernice Marker Dies; Was Once Lincoln Teacher

Bernice Marker of Red Cloud, former Lincoln teacher, died Sunday at the age of 84. Services were held Wednesday in Inavale.

She was a Lincoln schoolteacher 42 years, teaching at Saratoga and Clinton Elementary Schools and Everett Junior High School until her retirement in 1950.

She received her education at Peru State Teachers College and the University of Nebraska, where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority.

Gade Named To Head NU Campus Police

Lt. Gail Gade of the Lincoln Police Department has been named to replace the retiring chief of the University of Nebraska Campus Police, Capt. Eugene Masters.

The city department's chief juvenile officer since 1955, Lt. Gade's law enforcement career began 21 years ago when he signed up for part-time police work when he was an NU football guard.

He will take over as the campus police chief on May 1.

Capt. Masters has headed the NU force for about 10 years following a 32-year career with the city department.

Lt. Gade said he expects to find a great change in a campus attitude since his college days because today's college student is more educated and more "conscious of what's going on around him."

The purpose of law enforcement in any location is "security and protection of property," said the lieutenant, and he added that he hoped his experience with juveniles could be useful.

"It is important in such work to look beyond the offense and find the reason so that a proper disposition of the case can be made," he said.

CB&Q Hearing Set For June 9

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP) — A hearing on the request of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad to discontinue two Omaha to Billings passenger trains has been set for June 9 in U.S. District Court in Cheyenne.

Only a temporary injunction is barring the railroad from dropping the trains, which serve points in northeast Wyoming. The Interstate Commerce Commission gave its final approval to the Burlington's request two weeks ago.

U.S. District Judge Ewing T. Kerr of Cheyenne issued the injunction after the city of Sheridan and others said discontinuance of Trains 41 and 42 would be an economic hardship on their communities and railroad employes.

3-Judge Panel

A three-judge federal panel continued the temporary injunction earlier this year, giving the railroad until May 10 to file further briefs on why the temporary injunction should be dissolved.

Hearing the arguments will be Judge Kerr, U.S. District Judge Olin Hatfield Chilson of Colorado, and Judge J. J. Rickey of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Burlington has contended it is losing upwards to $1 million a year by operating the passenger trains.

Kuhlman Chosen Head NU Club

Henry Kuhlman of Cozad has been elected president of the University of Nebraska Food Science Club for 1969-70.

Other officers include Russell Johnson, Alliance, vice president; Dee Ann Geu, Sidney, secretary; Newel Sanderson, Oxford, treasurer; Mary Coyle, McCook, Agriculture Executive Board representative; and Doug Miller, Omaha, publicity chairman.

The faculty advisor for the club is Dr. Roy G. Arnold of the Department of Food Science and Technology.

2,000 Expected

Peru — Nearly 2,000 Nebraska musicians will participate in the District II Nebraska School Activities Music Contest at Peru State College, Thursday and Friday, April 24-25, according to Edward G. Cameraly, associate professor of voice, contest director.

R. G. Cunningham Denies Offering Post To Londay

Omaha (UPI) — Mayor candidate Robert G. Cunningham said he could not come home and face his family "if I were ever to allow myself to be used by anyone."

He was commenting on the John K. Londay letter of last week in which several references were made to the Omaha mayor's race.

Cunningham said: "Mr. Londay, passing himself off as a friend of mine, made accusations against me which are absolutely false and malicious. He said I had offered him his pick of positions on the city staff. With God as my witness, I repeat — I have made no such offer to him nor have I made any such offer to anyone else."

Florom Chosen

Holdrege — Ron Florom has been elected president of the Holdrege Junior Chamber of Commerce. Other officers elected were: Rodale Emken, external vice president; Dean Humphries, internal vice president; and Steve Atkins, Jerry Shaver, Virgill Parde, Leonard Canarsky, Richard Larson, and Fred Tillotson, directors.

CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND · 80 PROOF · IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK

Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks —highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.

2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.

3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

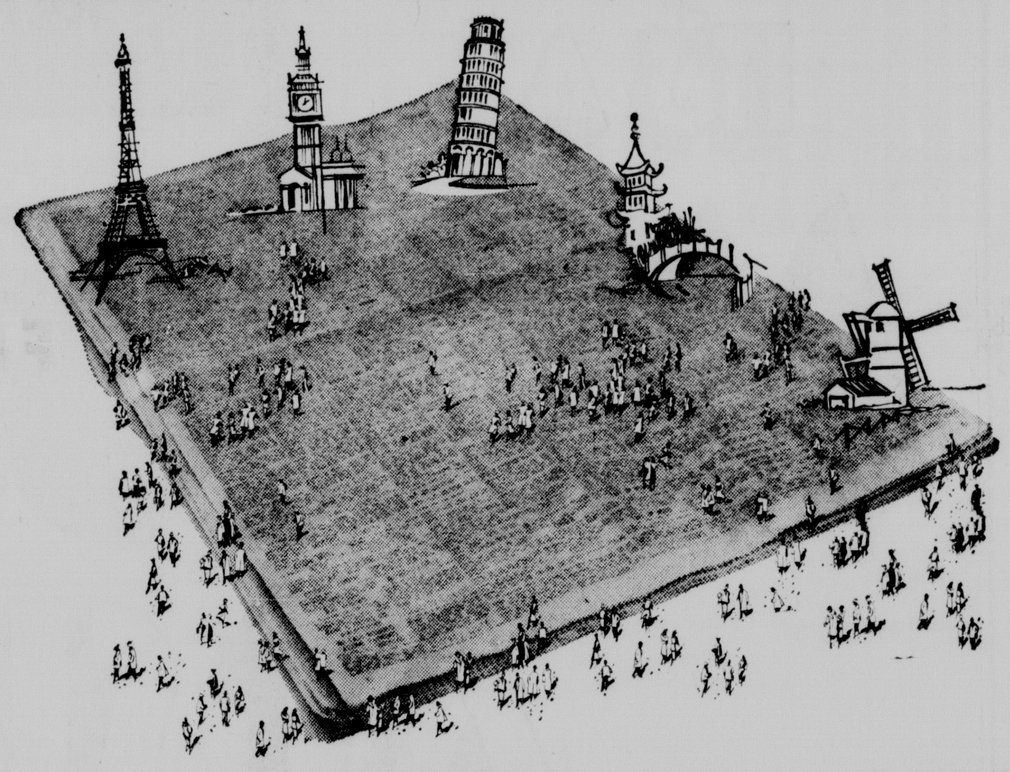
JOURNAL-STAR WANT ADS BRING RESULTS—477-8902

Want ads make a world of difference....



THE WORLD OVER

Want Ads stand alongside the telephone, the telegraph and the written letter as major methods of communication on a person-to-person basis. The difference between a Want Ad and these other means of commuication is that you may use the telephone, telegraph or letter when you know the name and location of the person with whom you wish to communicate. If that person is unknown, you use a Want Ad. The person who will buy an article you wish to sell is unknown to you until he responds to your Want Ad. The person who will buy an article you wish to sell is unknown to you until he responds to your Want Ad. The Want Ad provides your only means of communicating with him.

People throughout the world have this same need for a low cost means to communicate, and Want Ads throughout the world satisfy this need. Newspapers of many languages in many nations join this week in saluting Want Ads during International Want Ad Week.

Salt Valley Work Prevented Flood

Directors of the Salt Valley Watershed were told Wednesday that flood control practices in the Lincoln area prevented possible flooding following heavy rainfall April 3.

Ed Lawson of the Army Corps of Engineers said that the Salt Creek channel and projects of the Corps and Soil Conservation Service were able to adequately handle the rainfall...

He said, "The reservoirs stored an extra 3,600 acre-feet of water resulting from the rainfall."

Ken MacKichan, district chief of the U.S. Geological Survey, also said that the amount of water flowing through Salt Creek after that rainfall was the most since 1965.

In other action at the meeting the watershed directors approved spending $5,000 a year over the next five years to participate in a study being made on nutrient losses from agricultural watersheds.

Dr. Howard Wittmuss, who is involved in the study being conducted by the University of Nebraska, said four agricultural watersheds of different types will be used to collect data on runoff flows and determination of sediment quality.

"We hope to develop a conservation system that will keep nutrient losses to as low a level as possible," he said.

He explained that a reduction in nutrient losses would reduce eutrophic activity in the area reservoirs.

Outlook Favorable

New York (UPI) Dun & Bradstreet Inc. said retailers of all sizes and in all lines are moderately optimistic about the outlook for the remainder of 1969. On the average they expect dollar sales to increase 8.6% on the year and expect a 6.9% rise in profit.

Michigan Moves To Outlaw DDT

Lansing, Mich. (UPI) — The Michigan Agriculture Commission moved Wednesday to ease the Great Lakes pesticide threat by outlawing the sale of DDT in Michigan.

The precedent-setting action could spur other lakes states, including Wisconsin and Minnesota, to take similar steps soon, officials said.

Dr. David Sanderson Dies; Rites Set Friday

Services for Dr. David D. Sanderson of 220 Calvert, longtime Lincoln physician, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Roper & Sons' Mortuary, 4300 O. He died Wednesday at the age of 83.

Dr. Sanderson practiced in Lincoln 52 years as an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist and was on the staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital for more than 50 years.

A native of Stillwell, Ill., he was graduated from Carthage (Illinois) College and Washington University Medical College in St. Louis and did postgraduate work at the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital in Chicago, Ill.

He practiced for a time in Red Cloud and then came to Lincoln in 1917.

Interested in research work, Dr. Sanderson wrote numerous articles and pamphlets describing his experiments and findings.

He was a member of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, the American, Nebraska and Lancaster County Medical Associations, Sesostris Temple, Royal Arch Masons Chapter 6, Liberty Lodge No. 300 AF&AM and the YMCA.

Survivors include his wife, Bernice; brothers, H. L. of Mesa, Ariz., W. H. of Quincy, Ill., Dr. R. B. of South Bend, Ind.; sisters, Mrs. F. A. Hohlfeld of Hastings, Mrs. M. K. Lowary of Aurora, Ill., Mrs. C. L. Murbauch of West Point, Ill., and several nieces and nephews.

No Agreements Reported In Talks With Craft Unions

Negotiations between striking craft unions and employers failed in attempts to reach major agreements Wednesday.

Only two of the unions whose contracts expired two weeks ago have reached new agreements with the Building and Construction Employers Association.

Association President John Miller said although renewed meetings with the carpenters and iron workers did not bring about an agreement, "we've settled on a lot of the details for new contracts."

Although the terms agreed upon were not disclosed, Miller said that all the striking craft unions have been offered the three-year $1.75 wage increase which was accepted by cement masons and plasterers.

Unions which remain on strike includes those of painters, lathers, operating engineers, laborers, bricklayers, carpenters and iron workers.

Further meetings are scheduled for Friday, but it was not known which unions would barter at that time, said Miller.

Work at construction sites in Lincoln has greatly slowed down because of a small and "scattered work force," he said.

Ambassadorship For Peterson Given Approval

Washington (AP) — Former Nebraska Gov. Val Peterson of Hastings was one of five nominees as new U.S. ambassadors approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Peterson will serve in Finland.

The committee also conducted hearings on the nominations of former U.S. Sen. Kenneth Keating as ambassador to India; William J. Handley, Turkey; William Leonhart, Yugoslavia, and Alfred Puhan, Hungary.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Casper, Jack Golf Favorites

. . . TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPIONS

Rancho La Costa, Calif. (AP) —Billy Casper and Jack Nicklaus ruled the co-favorites Wednesday in an elite, 28-man field assembled for golf's $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

The 22-hole test begins Thursday over the fiercely tough La Costa Country Club course, a sprawling, 7,200 yard, par 72 layout that features deep, clinging rough and mammoth greens.

"That rough is really something," said Casper, a two-time U.S. Open champion who finished in a tie for second in the Masters.

"It's like that," he said, spacing his hands about 10 inches apart "You get tired just walking through it to get to the fairways."

"I only played nine holes," Masters champ George Archer quipped. "Then I had to stop and sharpen my wedge. Gets dull from all that grass-cutting."

Casper and Nicklaus were installed as 4-1 choices by Las Vegas bookies, with the 6-foot-6 Archer next at 6-1. Arnold Palmer, like Nicklaus a late arrival, was listed at 7-1 with PGA champion Julius Boros and Gene Littler, the season's leading money winner each at 8-1.

Other top choices include U.S. Open Champion Lee Trevino, British Open Champ Gary Player of South Africa, lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand and long-hitting Tom Weiskopf.

BILL CASPER

With such a small field, in sharp contrast to the 160-man groups that usually appear on regular tour events, the first twosome of defending champion Don January and Steve Reid doesn't get away until 11 a.m., PST, 1 p.m., CST.

The course is one of the longest the pros encounter. It's relatively flat and has water, including a manmade waterfall, on nine holes.

"I had a 71," Player said after a practice round. "Four 71s ought to win it."

"No way," Charlie Sifford said. "I'll take 286 right now and sit back and let 'em come after me. That's a tough course out there, one of the toughest."

Frank, Tony See Things Better Now

Boston (AP) — Frank Robinson and Tony Conigliaro, two of baseball's top sluggers, are showing signs of recovery from the eye problems which have plagued them for the past two seasons, but neither sees any real similarity in the cases.

"I have sort of an idea what Conigliaro went through, but I can't really know the extent of it," Robinson said before their teams met at Fenway Park Wednesday in the finale of a three-game series.

"His was much more serious," said the Baltimore right fielder who is off to a brilliant start this year after suffering through the worst season of his career in 1968.

Robinson, who suffered a head injury which affected his vision in a baserunning collision in mid-1967, came back late that season but still couldn't see properly and had double vision at times.

"Last year that was gone, but I still had trouble seeing things clearly," said the only man ever to win most valuable player honors in both leagues.

The results showed as he wound up with only 15 home runs, 52 runs batted in and a .268 average — the lowest of his major league career.

This season he says he's 100 per cent again, and the early evidence backs him up, as he has already smashed four homers, driven in 10 runs and hit .412 in his team's first eight games.

Conigliaro, whose career was feared ended when he had to sit out almost a season and a half with impaired vision after an Aug. 18, 1967 beaning, also says his eyesight is now 100 per cent again.

"But you can't really compare the two situations," the Boston right fielder said in the dressing room before Wednesday's game, which he wasn't starting because of a muscle pull in his leg. "I never had double vision; I had a complete blind spot for a while."

Conigliaro hasn't demonstrated his recovery quite so convincingly as Robinson as yet, but the young slugger did lead the Red Sox in home runs during the exhibition season and also hit one on opening day. He has played regularly and hasn't had any apparent problems seeing the ball either at bat or in the field.

There's nothing like experience. It's a good way to learn and John F. Kennedy College baseball coach Bob Cerv feels the lesson is now sinking in.

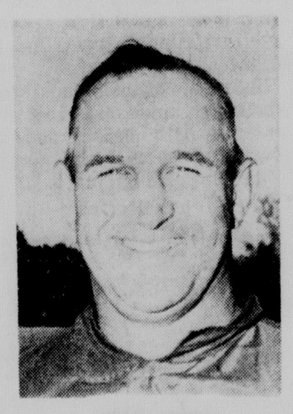
The Patriots opened their 1969 baseball season with an eight-game swing through the western part of the state, coming back with a 4-4 record.

JFK was 3-1 against Hiram Scott, winning 8-1, 9-7 and 4-1 and losing 7-0, but was only 1-3 against Chadron State, dropping 2-0, 4-3 (in eight innings) and 3-2 decisions before romping home in a 16-2 finale.

Despite a veteran squad, Cerv said, "The difference at Chadron was that they had played 10 games on a swing down south before they ever played us. We only had three days outside to practice before we went west. It's kind of tough to get to practice just in the gym." So a few games under their belts would have been a handy thing for the Patriots to have had.

Still, two of the losses were by just one run and Cerv says, "We're coming along and just starting to get into shape. We broke loose and really started hitting the ball that last game.

"Actually, we always had a chance in every game except that 7-0 loss to Hiram Scott. We always had five or six hits and had a dozen in that last game against Chadron.



BOB CERV

"Our pitching is young, while defensively we looked a little shaky and raggedy at times. This week, we've spent a lot of time on infield work and have had some good practices."

Cerv went with four starters on the initial trip, Ed Miller, Jim Pickering, Paul Breemes and Paul Eddie, the first three all winding up 1-1. Relievers split the other two games that Eddie started.

The regular lineup at present consists of catcher Ken Busch, Ed Mancini at first, Jim Krambeck at second, Barry Bass at short, Steve Carr at third, Bob Rockwell in left, Earl Hicks in center and Terry Ohnoutka in right. Cerv said the hitting has been pretty evenly divided among them.

JFK continues on what will be an approximate 30-game schedule with two upcoming doubleheaders, hosting Nebraska Wesleyan for a pair at 1:30 p.m. Friday, then traveling for a doublebill at old nemesis Pershing College next Monday.

The Generals won six of seven from JFK a year ago, accounting for half the Patriots' losses in a 21-12 campaign.

Bill Conigliaro Hits Two HRs

. . . CUBS EDGE CARDS, 1-0

By Associated Press

Baltimore pounded out 16 hits and outlasted Boston Wednesday 11-8 in a game called by rain in the bottom of the eighth despite a spectacular debut by Red Sox rookie Billy Conigliaro, who hit two homers in his first major league start. Seven home runs were hit in the wild game in Boston.

At Chicago, another American League rookie, Carlos May, also slammed two home runs and Buddy Bradford belted one as the White Sox won their home opener over the Kansas City Royals, 5-2.

Jim Northrup drove in four runs with a double and a home run and Denny McLain scattered nine hits as Detroit whipped Cleveland 8-2.

It was McLain's second victory of the season, both against Cleveland. Jose Cardenal homered for the Indians and Norm Cash of Detroit hit his first home run of the season.

Sal Bando hit the first grand slam homer of his career and Chuck Dobson hurled a four-hitter as Oakland stopped the California Angels 6-1.

Rain washed out the scheduled American League game at Yankee Stadium between the Washington Senators and New York Yankees.

The teams will play a doubleheader at the Stadium today.

In the National League, the Eastern Division-leading Chicago Cubs, off to their best start in 34 seasons, edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins. It was the Cubs' eighth victory in nine games.

Hank Aaron slammed a two-run homer in the first inning — the 512th of his career — as the Atlanta Braves beat the Houston Astros 6-4.

Aaron's blast off lefty Denny Lemaster broke a tie with Mel Ott and pulled him into a sixth place tie with Eddie Mathews, his former teammate, on the all-time homer list.

Jose Pagan, a utility infielder, had four hits and drove in three runs to spark Pittsburgh to a 11-3 victory over the New York Mets.

Four home runs and Bill Singer's four-hit pitching carried the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-1 victory over the San Diego Padres.

The Cubs got their run off southpaw Steve Carlton in the third inning when Billy Williams led off with a single and moved around on a walk, a sacrifice by Ernie Banks and an infield hit by Randy Hundley. Williams slid in under catcher Tim McCarver's tag after a wide throw by third baseman Mike Shannon.

Glenn Beckert, the Cubs' second baseman, was carried from the field in the seventh after a collission with Shannon, who was out sliding into second. Beckert was taken to Jewish Hospital for X rays and, after playing in the field in the top of the eighth, Shannon, who suffered blurred vision, also was forced to leave the game.

Don Buford drove in four runs with a homer and two singles to pace the Baltimore assault. Brooks Robinson smashed a three-run homer, Paul Blair hit a solo shot and Dave Johnson contributed four straight singles.

The 21-year-old Conigliaro, playing right field because his older brother Tony was out with a muscle pull in his leg, struck out his first time up but then drilled solid shots into the left field screen on his next two trips.

—KANSAS, THEN DRAKE—

Husker Trackmen Plan Relay Action

Coach Frank Sevigne's Nebraska track team, unbeaten in three outdoor tests, joins the national relay circuit this week.

The Cornhuskers, who have won a quadrangular at Arizona State, a triangular at Arizona and a dual with Air Force at Lincoln, will be on hand for the Kansas Relays at Lawrence Friday and Saturday. The following week they'll move to Des Moines for the annual Drake Relays carnival.

Sevigne will enlist his Cornhuskers in four relay events at the KU bash — sprint medley, mile, four-mile and two-mile — as well as a number of individual events.

The Husker coach is undecided on his sprint medley lineup and probably won't settle on it until Friday morning when the preliminary event is held.

"I may go with Ron Lange in the quarter, Garth Case and Cliff Forbes in the two 220s and Dan Morran in the 880," Sevigne said. "On the other hand, I may use Forbes in the 440 and Case and Doug Marcey in the 220s."

While the order of running isn't set, Sevigne has tabbed the quartets for the other three relays. In the mile relay, it will be Lange, Case, Forbes and Bob Pierce. The two-mile relay will include Morran, Mike Randall, Greg Carlberg and Pete Brang. The four-mile relay team will be Carlberg, Brang, Ron Lee and Don Stenberg.

Devaney Still Missing From Husker Drills

Nebraska's spring football forces worked without the leader for the third straight day Wednesday as rain failed to slow the Husker gridders.

Head coach Bob Devaney was still in Saginaw, Mich., where his father's funeral was held Monday. He is expected back for Friday's workout as the Huskers head toward a weekend scrimmage session, either Saturday or Sunday.

Assistant coach Jim Ross, in charge during Devaney's absence, observed Wednesday that the squad appeared to be in good physical shape.

"They're hustling and they're hitting pretty good," Ross noted. "I'd call it a case of normal spring progress."

Sherwin Jarmon, the No. 1 defensive right and reported Monday to be suffering from a cold, was still absent Wednesday and his place on the top unit was taken by junior Dennis Gutzmann.

Quarry Selected Boxer Of Month

New York (AP) — Jerry Quarry of Bellflower, was named Fighter of the Month by Ring Magazine Wednesday for his lopsided victory over Buster Mathis.

Quarry also was boosted from No. 4 among the heavyweight contenders to No. 3, moving ahead of Sonny Liston. Mathis, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was dropped from sixth to seventh.

Floyd Patterson, the former two-time champion, was dropped out of the ratings because of inactivity.

Moose Practice Set

The Lincoln Moose will hold their first tryout-practice session at 5:30 p.m. Friday at Ballard Field. Players of any age are invited.

Doane Thinclads Dominate

. . . JFK SENIOR SHINES IN MIDLAND RELAYS MILE

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Fremont — Speedy Wahoo JFK senior Harold Nolan kept Peru from scoring a 1-2-3 sweep in the mile and Doane captured the mythical team championship by winning eight of 15 events Wednesday in the 13th annual Midland College Relays in which only two records were set.

Nolan passed heralded Peru miler Jack Weyers halfway through the final lap, and although Weyers made a late attempt to overtake him, Nolan held him off to win handily in 4:22.4, only .3 of a second off the meet record set by Peru's Louis Fritz in 1966.

Peru's Jay Heggerman finished third and Van Allen, also a Bobcat, was fourth.

Doane won six track events and two in the field to take the mythical team honors. No official team scoring was kept.

Peru's Mike Mulvaney's 163-3½ effort in the discus was good for a meet record, besting his own mark of 160-11 set last year.

For a time it appeared as if the discus heave would stand as the only record set in this year's meet, as cool temperatures chilled the evening track finals.

But a 3:20.8 effort by Doane's mile relay team in the final event of the evening added the second new mark.

A bad handoff between Dennis Stroble and Rich Bailey nearly cost the Tigers the victory in the event.

But Bailey turned on the steam to pull out and win by nearly .3 of a second. Glenn Mitchell and Larry Hoff ran the first two legs for Doane.

Doane's Burrell Williams, Jim Welti and Paul Broussard led the Tiger onslaught.

Williams won the 100-yard dash in :09.9 against the wind, then ran the first leg on Doane's winning 440, sprint medley and 880-yard relay teams.

Welti was a member of the winning 440, shuttle hurdle, sprint medley and 880 yard relay teams and Broussard ran anchor on the winning 440 and 880-yard relay teams, as well as the third leg on the winning sprint medley team.

Guerin Says NBA Playoffs Are Faster, Tougher-Paced

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Coach Richie Guerin of the Atlanta Hawks sums up National Basketball Association playoff games in two words: fast and tough.

"It's a lot more tenacious in playoffs," said Guerin, whose Hawks can even the Western Division championship best-of-seven series at 2-2 with a victory over Los Angeles in Thursday night's fourth game.

"You go at a pace that you can't keep up for 82 games," Guerin explained in comparing playoff and regular-season games.

"This series with the Lakers has been the hardest fought from tipoff to end of every game that I've seen," he added.

Los Angeles, playing at home, won the first two games by two-point margins, 95-93 and 104-102. Atlanta fought back into contention Tuesday night with a 99-86 victory on its home court.

Asked about Atlanta's chances to win the series now, Guerin said he has hopes but no predictions.

"It's tough to come back from two down, but not nearly as tough now as having to win four straight would have been."

In the Eastern Division, Boston leads New York 3-2 and could end it with a victory in a nationally televised game at Boston Friday night.

Laker coach Bill Van Breda Kolff, disappointed with his team's shooting in the third game, ordered them to the practice floor Wednesday afternoon.

"You can't get 86 points in the NBA and win," said Van Breda Kolff.

The Los Angeles coach paid tribute to the outstanding Atlanta defense which was particularly tough on high scoring Jerry West, who was hounded all the way by Atlanta's Lou Hudson and double-teamed by Walt Hazard every time he got the ball.

West, who averaged more than 29 points per game in earlier playoff contests, connected on only four of 18 field goal tries and managed only 13 points.

"I'd say the Hawks worked harder on defense, a lot of double teaming," said Van Breda Kolff. "They don't play any man-to-man, so we should have driven for the basket more."

While the strategy worked for Atlanta in the third game, Guerin reacted quickly when someone suggested he had found a way to stop West.

"You said that, I didn't," he replied curtly.

Guerin said West is too good a player not to bounce back in a big way.

"I just hope it's not in this series," he added.

Phoenix Sure Of Taking Walk

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — Terry Colangelo, Phoenix Suns' general manager, said Wednesday University of Florida star Neal Walk will sign a contract with the National Basketball Association team in the next few days.

Walk, the Suns' first draft choice, was sought by the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association. Colangelo said as far as he knew, the ABA has conceded the 6'-10" ace to Phoenix.

"We still have a few I's to dot and a few T's to cross, but we're 99 per cent sure he (Walk) is coming with us," said Colangelo. "He'll be in Phoenix sometime during the next three or four days."

British Withdraw 1970 America's Cup Challenge

New York (AP) —The British have withdrawn their challenge for the America's Cup in 1970, apparently because of economic factors, the New York Yacht Club announced Wednesday.

The Yacht Club revealed no details beyond saying that the Royal Yacht Club had decided not to challenge, but experienced observers abroad have speculated that present economic conditions in England were the influencing factor.

The withdrawal of the British still leaves the French and the Australians vigorously preparing for the elimination trials preparatory to the 1870 Cup match, probably the most famous yacht race in the world.

The United States never has lost the series since it was started in 1851.

Knicks First Club Drawing Over Million

New York (AP) — The New York Knicks have become the first pro basketball team in an organized league to play before a million or more spectators in one season.

The Knicks said Wednesday that Monday's capacity crowd of 19,500 for the playoff game with Boston — the club's 14th sellout and seventh in a row — boosted the record-breaking attendance to 1,017,835 for home and road games.

For 37 regular home season games, the total was 569,163, another pro league record. The first five home playoff games have attracted 97,500 for a total of 666,663.

Air Park Residents Work For Pool

Memberships in Lincoln Air Park West Recreation Inc. are being sold in an effort to raise enough money to rent and maintain the Olympic-size swimming pool at Air Park West.

The swimming pool, owned by the Airport Authority, is now unused.

Mrs. Maureen Shawver, president of the newly-formed organization said the purpose of the group is to secure swimming facilities in the area.

Mrs. Shawver said the money being raised is intended to show the city that there is enough money and interest for having the pool in use.

"We are hoping that the city's Park and Recreation Department can get the pool open and service it with our group paying the cost," she said.

Mrs. Shawver said that although the pool is in the city limits, the people living at Air Park West are not within the boundary line.

She said memberships, costing $30, would be open to 750 persons.

"We had a meeting this week at which time $3,000 was collected," she said.

Mrs. Shawver said a swimming pool is a necessity during the summertime in the Air Park West area.

The pool would be open only to those holding memberships in the organization.

James Ager, superintendent of park and recreation department, indicated his department is interested in the proposal but noted that no city money could be involved in operating the pool.

Earnings At NBC Surpass $350,000 In First Quarter

Net operating earnings after tax for the first quarter of 1969 at the National Bank of Commerce totaled $350,197.

This compares with $284,396 for the first three months in 1968.

There are 360,000 outstanding shares, and on this basis, the per share earnings for the first quarter are 97 cents compared with 79 cents last year.

All bank shares were recently exchanged by the stockholders for shares in NBC Co., a one-bank holding company.

Western Electric Contract Reached

Washington (UPI) — Agreement on a new two-year contract covering 70,000 employes of the Western Electric Co. was announced by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

IBEW President Charles H. Pillard said the agreement provides for wages increases of 5% in 1969 and 3.9% in 1970.

The contract, valued by Pillard at $102 million, also provides for a modified agency shop and double time for all overtime worked in excess of nine overtime hours a week.

GE Of Omaha Bids Low On Street Lights

General Electric Co. of Omaha was the apparent low bidder Wednesday for street lights for the Lincoln Electric System with a bid of $14,238.

Also bidding were the Lincoln Electric Co., $14,754 and Tiny's Electric Co., $14,772.

The apparent low bidder for police uniforms was Clarks Clothing of Lincoln, which bid $11,402.38.

Magee's was the only other bidder at $11,687.62

Wayne Harvey, city purchasing agent, said Magee's submitted an alternative bid of $10,893.12, but that his office has not had a chance to check whether the bid meets specifications.

General Tobacco and Candy Co. was the only bidder for candy vending machines at the municipal pools. The bid was 12% of the city's gross on each machine.

Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Lincoln was the apparent low bidder for soft drink vending machines, with a bid of 50% of the city's gross. Other bids were submitted by Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. and Seven-Up Bottling Co.

Stock Market Drops Sharply

New York (AP) — The stock market declined sharply Wednesday — its third loss this week — in the wake of the shooting down of a U.S. Navy plane in the Far East.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which posted fractional losses Monday and Tuesday, fell 8.45 to 923.49, to take its sharpest loss since April 7, when it fell 8.52 in apparent reaction to administration inflation fighting measures.

The Dow had gained a total of 6.16 points last week during a market rally which drew much of its strength from renewed Vietnam peace hopes.

Brokers said the market's decline apparently was due in large part to investor concern over the possible consequence of the plane incident. North Korea claims to have shot down the plane, which had 31 aboard, and the Pentagon said the claim was supported by all available evidence.

Declines took an early narrow lead over advances and expanded their advantage as trading wore on. Of 1,559 issues traded, 910 declined and 408 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 126.

Volume totaled 9.68 million shares, compared with 9.61 million Tuesday. Blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 71, compared with 50 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 2.2 at 332.4, with industrials off 4.7, rails off 1.0 and utilities up .2.

Steels, motors and electronics were off. Utilities were mixed. Gold issues generally were higher, with Dome Mines up 2¼. Conglomerate issues generally were lower.

Fourteen of the 20 most-active stocks on the New York exchange were lower, 5 higher, and 1 unchanged.

Occidental Petroleum, most-active on 192,000 shares, lost 1⅛. Gulf Oil was off 1½, and Texaco off 1⅜.

Fourteen of the 20 most active issues on the American Stock Exchange were lower, 5 higher, and 1 unchanged.

Volume totaled 4.84 million shares compared with 4.43 million shares Tuesday.

Beef Steers Sell Steady At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Beef steers sold steady in only fairly active trading in Omaha Wednesday. Heifers met a more brisk inquiry and shaped up fully steady.

Cows sold 25-50 cents higher in very active bargaining. Other cattle classes were little changed.

Some four loads of choice to prime 1,200-1,280 lb. fed steers drew 31.75. Some 14 loads comparable quality 1,072-1,250 lbs. ranged 30.65-31.35 as cautious buyers split quarters. Bulk choice mainly 29.50-30.50, mixed good and choice 28.75 and up.

A small package of prime 951 lb. heifers drew 30.50. Loadlot peak 30.25 for two shipments 974-1,044 lb. weights. Some sise loads 862-1,025 lbs. brought 30.00, other well-finished 29.60-29.75. Bulk choice 28.25-29.50.

Beef cows sold in volume to 2,150, smooth heiferettes to 22.00 or better. Boners 19.75 and down, mixed cutter and utility upward to 20.50.

Butcher hogs took a mostly 25 to as much as 50 lower turn. Sows were fully steady.

Price of Gas Air Conditioning Equipment Reduced

Thanks to engineering breakthroughs, manufacturers of gas central air conditioners are now selling LP-Gas air conditioning units at prices much lower than were possible just a short time ago.

Reports indicate that new LP-Gas air conditioning systems will last nearly three times longer than electric, will need fewer repairs, and will be no more expensive to operate.

It is anticipated that many small-town and rural families will consider LP-Gas air conditioning for their homes this year.

LP-Gas is piped directly to this area by a division of MAPCO — the Mid-America Pipeline System — the underground highway weather can't block.
